Greyhound Bus Stoppage Hits Washington C. H.

Trips Cancelled; Dayton Southeastern Service Unaffected

Washington C. H. was without Eastern Greyhound bus service Thursday as a work stoppage in some areas of the northeastern section of the nation followed a midnight strike deadline in connection with a new union contract.

Although contract negotiations were continuing in Cleveland, the 16 buses between Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati which provide east - west service for Washington C. H. were not running today.

Mrs. Grace Davis Kelley, agent at the Union Bus Terminal here, pointed out, however, that the Dayton Southeastern Lines' nine daily buses, which provide service between Dayton and Chillicothe and Dayton and Greenfield are arriving and leaving here on schedule. Neither Dayton Southeastern nor Atlantic Greyhound, which connects with that line at Chillicothe, are affected by the stoppage.

* * *

IN CLEVELAND, a company spokesman said the stoppages were unauthorized. He said no official strike notice had been given by the Street Railway and Motor Coach Employes union, but that in some areas drivers were unloading their passengers at terminals and awaiting news of the negotiations

Ferdinand had more fun as a "Trick - or-Treater" than anyone else.

Ferdie, a 3-year-old Shorthorn bull, escaped from his paddock on the Raymond Morris farm, near Good Hope, Tuesday night, but he knew exactly what he was doing. He made a bee line for the village a quarter of a mile away.

Hours later the Morrises found Ferdinand on Good Hope's main street, contentedly muching apples which were being supplied in abundance by village youngsters who had turned out for Beggar's Night.

Acquaintances said that gentle Ferdinand was smiling broadly when he was led home.

"There are some Halloweeners back around the County Home," said a woman's voice over the telephone in police headquarters here about midnight Wednesday. She said she lived on the Waterloo Pike and that she feared there was some vandalism going on in the darkness around the big old deserted building.

The call was relayed over the radio to the patrol cars of the Fayette County sheriff's department.

Deputy Don Thompson and Dean Yankey, an auxiliary officer on patrol with him, were closest and made a bee line for the home. Thompson wheeled his cruiser through the gate and back the long lane to the building.

After a quick look around, it dawned on him what could happen and he started back out the lane to the highway when he saw a dot of red light in the distance.

When he got to the gate, his suspicions were confirmed— the gate was not only shut, but it had been chained and padlocked. The dot of red light he had seen was a lantern hanging on it; a thoughtful gesture by the Halloween pranksters he blamed for his predicament.

The big deputy chuckled as he told the story Thursday morning, but he admitted he was "mad enough to bite nails" for a few minutes when he found he had been locked inside the grounds.

How did he and his partner on patrol get out?

That was simple, although it did take considerable exertion — they broke the chain by swinging the gates back and forth for leverage.

When Thompson radioed his predicament to police headquarters Fire Chief George Hall offered to bring a pair of heavy bolt cutters out, but the deputy declined the assistance.

There was some consolation in the old saying that "misery loves company." Still laughing over his own plight, Thompson revealed a secret he had kept for a fellow deputy for two weeks. The same thing had happened to Deputy Charles Hays.

Halloween Festival Attracts Big Crowd

Wednesday night's Halloween Parade somehow managed to sandwich itself between showers and turned out to be the most successful celebration of its kind Washington C. H. ever has seen.

The festivities started at 7:30 with a parade which went from the high school, through the city, and ended at Gardner Park where costumed contestants were judged and awards presented. The Washington High Marching Band led the paraders, and an estimated 300 took part in the procession. More than 2,500 spectators saw the marchers go by.

Four floats and an ancient automobile also were in the line-up.

The Junior High School Band kept up the marching rhythm at the rear of the line.

* * *

WHEN the procession reached Gardner Park, the marchers paraded around the field under the direction of Master of Ceremonies Hal Summers of the Jaycees. That organization planned the entire evening.

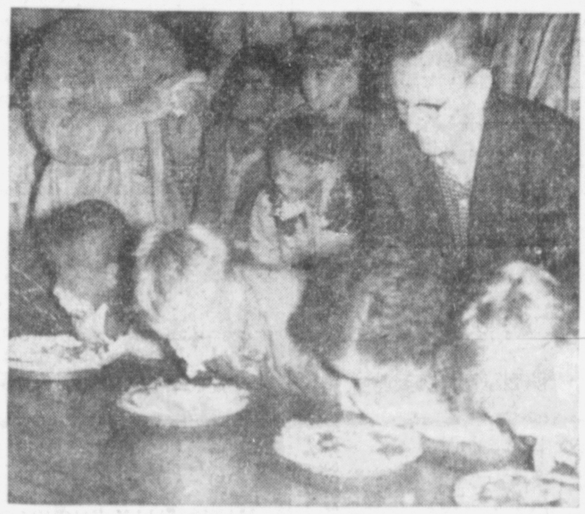

Finally the masqueraders came to a halt and lined up for the seven contest categories.

Winners were chosen for being the most original, best couple, prettiest, best group of three or more, funniest, and ugliest, and the best float also was honored.

After three winners had been selected in each category, the pie-eating contest began.

Eden Facing Censure Vote

LONDON (AP) — The British-French attack on Egypt today brought down on the handsome gray head of Sir Anthony Eden the greatest storm of his three decades in politics.

In the House of Commons tonight the prime minister faces a motion of censure deploring the government's resort to armed force and requiring his resignation if the motion was approved.

Eden's conservative party has an over-all majority of 60 votes, making defeat for the government unlikely, but even in the ranks of Eden's own followers there were reported to be misgivings over his handling of the Suez affair.

The Daily Express which supports Eden's policy, predicted there would be "at least one resignation from the government" as a result of the action against Egypt.

Writers in some newspapers suggested British public opinion has never been so divided at a time of war since the days of the American Revolution.

* * *

THE LAST semblance of a bipartisan foreign policy, backed by both the Conservative government and its socialist opposition, the Labor party, was wiped off the board.

After an acrid debate in the House of Commons, the Labor party filed its motion of censure.

The liberal News Chronicle said: "Only a miracle can save Eden now." It declared:

"There can be no further confidence in a man who has brought his country to such a dangerous state of ignominy and confusion."

Dr. Charles Holzer Dies in Gallipolis

He had been a patient at Holzer Hospital, which he founded, since September, 1952.

Dr. Holzer was a pioneer not only in his professional field as a surgeon, but in conservation and other fields of civic endeavor. He was one of the founders of the Ohio Valley Conservation and Flood Control Congress and, with the late author Louis Bromfield, was an early leader in the Friends of the Land.

Russian Troops Clear Out Of Budapest, but Stay Near

VIENNA (AP) — Battered Budapest was virtually free of Soviet troops today, but the Russians were reported forming a cordon around the Hungarian capital.

Budapest radio said Nagy's government had sent Moscow a note demanding that Soviet delegates be named to confer with Hungarian officials on complete withdrawal of Russian troops from the whole country.

Despite this announcement and Nagy's promise of free elections and other reforms, demonstrations grew against his regime. Nagy himself did not take over until after the rebellion started.

"Out with the government of murderers" shouted a crowd of 2,000 demonstrators in Kossuth Square outside Parliament.

Hungarian troops bolstered by armed civilians were seen camped on the outskirts of Budapest. It was believed they were trying to prevent the escape of prominent Communists and members of the hated Hungarian secret police.

STREET FIGHTING was reported still going on Wednesday night between the victorious rebels and members of the state police near Budapest's southern railroad station. Secret police officials also were hunted down in other parts of the city and their bodies burned in the streets.

At one square a mob of teenagers drenched the bodies of about 40 policemen in gasoline and set them afire.

Prague radio said a move was afoot to make Josef Cardinal Mindszenty Hungarian premier, but there was no confirmation.

Chest Drive Reaches 60 Per Cent of Goal

The Fayette County Community Chest has reached 60 per cent of its $23,500 goal.

When the office closed Wednesday evening, total contributions of $14,316.51 had been reported.

The Chest office said that no reports have yet been received from 50 business cards, 96 city residential workers, 78 rural workers, the Jeffersonville solicitation and one employe group.

Perse Harlow, executive secretary, said that it had been hoped that the campaign could be completed by the end of the week, but because of the lag in reports this would seem impossible.

Chest officials believe that most of the workers have contacted the larger part of their assigned areas but are withholding their reports because they have a few individuals on their lists yet to see.

BLOOMINGBURG'S report was turned in Wednesday by Lawrence Dumford, chairman in that area. Bloomingburg workers were Robert Hughes, Mrs. Frank Slager, Mrs. Charles Hughes, Mrs. Harry Craig and the Bloomingburg Y-teens.

"It still is too soon to tell about the success of the campaign," Harlow said.

"Many of the workers' reports are most encouraging with business firms and industries, employe groups and individuals showing the size of increases in contributions we must have for it to succeed. Then other cards come in whose support would indicate that they did not consider that the Community Chest is 10 campaigns rolled into one and that they should thus give their fair share."

"The Chest agencies are serving Fayette County people every day through such welfare organizations as the Salvation Army and the Red Cross with its blood bank; youth groups such as the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, 4-H Club Camp, Girl Scouts, YWCA and the USO, and community - wide activities like the public park and the Halloween, Christmas and Fourth of July celebrations. They must receive a generous public support if they are to continue their worthwhile programs for our children and adults."

Benson Says Farm Price Dip 'Slight'

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson has claimed growing support by farmers of the Eisenhower administration's farm program, and says a reported drop in farm prices during September was "slight."

Benson said that in all 15 states he visited on a campaign tour he found more farmers favoring President Eisenhower's policies than in previous tours.

Asked to explain his department's announcement of a drop in September farm prices, Benson said the decline was "much less than I anticipated." He said the drop was due to a seasonal market and is an annual occurrance.

Eisenhower Pins Faith on U. N. To Meet Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, having ruled out use of U. S. armed forces in the present Middle East fighting, looked to the United Nations today to find a way of solving "this tormenting problem."

"In the past," the President said in a radio-TV broadcast to the nation Wednesday night, "the United Nations has proved able to find a way to end bloodshed. We believe it can and will do so again."

He said the United States would "do all in its power to localize the fighting and to end the conflict." He did not suggest specific steps.

In the talk which the White House termed "nonpolitical," Eisenhower said the United States will avoid "involvement" in the present Middle East fighting.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said that at the time Eisenhower went on the air he had not seen a telegram from Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President, expressing hope "that you will not commit us to any precipitate military action."

Eisenhower said the U. N. General Assembly should be able to bring "the opinion of the world" to bear on the situation created by Israel's attack on Egypt and British-French intervention.

He chided Britain, France and Israel but added that all had been provoked by Egyptian actions.

He said he has no plan to call a special session of Congress. But promised to maintain close contact with congressional leaders.

A few hours before Eisenhower spoke, the State Department banned travel by U. S. citizens into Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Syria except where a trip is determined to be in this country's "best interests."

The department announced also that 1,888 Americans had been evacuated from the same four countries by late Wednesday afternoon, and that by its count 4,878 Americans remained. It said the Air Force and units of the 6th Fleet are aiding in the evacuation.

The Martime Administration, meanwhile, advised all U. S. merchant ships to avoid the Suez Canal area until the Middle East situation is clarified.

Eisenhower described the tangled situation in his speech, and then said: "In the circumstances I have described, there will be no United States involvement in these present hostitilites."

Eisenhower declared that the Israeli, British and French decisions to attack Egypt were decisions "taken in error."

Yet to say that the U. S. government considers the British, and Israeli actions wrong, Eisenhower declared, "is in no way to minimize our friendship with these nations nor our determination to maintain those friendships."

Earlier in his speech, Eisenhower said that "in Eastern Europe there is the dawning of a new day."

"If the Soviet Union faithfully acts upon its announced intention," he said, "the world will witness the greatest forward stride toward justice, trust and understanding among nations in our generation."

He reaffirmed U. S. readiness to assist the new governments of Hungary and Poland with economic help.

U. S. Reported Set To Lead U. N. Parley

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States was reported ready today to take the lead in pressing the emergency U. N. Assembly for a quick Middle East cease-fire.

This word came as the 76-nation Assembly prepared to meet tonight to try to get around the difficulties raised by British and French vetoes in the Security Council.

Whether Britain and France would attend the meeting still was not known. Spokesmen for the two delegations said the question had not been decided.

Both countries vigorously opposed the calling of the meeting.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., was reported to be working with a group of other countries, including key members of the African-Asian bloc, on a resolution which would call for an immediate cease-fire and demand the immediate withdrawl of Israeli, British and French forces from Egyptian territory.

The U. N. Security Council voted 7-2 Wednesday night to summon the Assembly after Britain and France launched air and naval operations against Egypt with the announced aim of occupying the Suez Canal zone and halting the Israeli-Egyptian fighting.

Less than 24 hours earlier Britain and France had vetoed U. S. and Soviet resolutions in the council for a cease-fire in Egypt and withdrawal of Israeli troops.

Under the resolution introduced by Yugoslavia, the special session

Italian Marshal Badoglio Is Dead

GRAZZANO BADOGLIO, Italy (AP)—Thousands of Italian war veterans assembled in this north Italian village to pay homage to Marshal Pietro Badoglio, 85, their wartime leader, who died today.

The old soldier, who rode in triumph into Addis Ababa in 1936 and who was chosen by the late King Vittorio Emmanuele III to replace the dictator Mussolini in 1943, had long been retired from public life. He left his home in Rome last August to return to his native village.

Examiners Uncover Intangible Taxes

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers reports $641,434 in intangible taxes has been turned up by tax agents in the last two years.

Bowers said Wednesday the $641,434 represents intangible tax liability against holders of notes and land contracts that were not listed on tax returns.

Tax agents arrived at the figure after checking county records against personal property tax returns. So far, 55 of Ohio's 88 counties have been checked.

Bowers said his tax agents uncover about $6 million annually in auditing personal property tax returns.

Egyptian Air Field Battered By Warplanes

Israel Claims Enemy Being Bottled Up in Sinai Desert Fighting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

British and French planes carried on nonstop attacks on Egyptian airfields today and Cairo announced attacking aircraft sank an Egyptian warship in the Suez Canal—blocking traffic and cutting off oil shipping to Europe.

Cairo said British and French warplanes raided Egyptian troops at crossing points along the canal and in the operation sank the Egyptian warship Akka in Timsah Lake just south of Ismailia, midway point of the Canal.

Britain and France launched military operations against President Nasser's regime Wednesday night with the declared purpose of protecting the waterway from fighting swirling between Egyptian and Israeli forces in the Sinai Desert.

The Egyptian statement said:

"Britain and France stopped navigation in the canal by their action at a time when they claimed they were protecting navigation in the canal.

IN A FIGHTING speech to his people, Nasser promised "we will fight from village to village, from place to place," until Egypt wins victory.

In a 20-minute broadcast, Nasser pledged he would fight "to the last drop of my blood" to secure Egyptian independence.

"Every one of you is a soldier," he declared. "Arms have been distributed to every one able to carry them. We shall fight hard. We shall never give up. We shall be victorious."

The Egyptians gave out no official information today on the fighting with Israeli troops. But the Israelis claimed Egyptian troops were in retreat and would soon be cut off in Sinai.

Even before Egypt announced blocking of the canal, shipping was reported turning back from its approaches because of danger from military operations.

An Egyptian government broadcast appealed to the Arabs, whose oil powers much of Western Europe's economy, to stop the flow of oil to the British and French "even if it means blowing up all the pipelines in the Middle East." The lines pass through Lebanon and Syria, both allies of Egypt.

Egypt broke off diplomatic relations with Britain and France. Jordan broke relations with France and informed Britain that it would not allow Jordanian airports or Jordanian soil to be used under any circumstances as bases for attack against Egypt or any other Arab state.

IRAQ ORDERED full mobilization of its armed forces in readiness for any Israeli attack on Jordan.

Cairo dispatches said five air raid alarms sounded in Cairo up to early afternoon, and Egyptian military headquarters claimed six British planes were shot down over the Nile delta.

Troops of the two Western nations had not shown up in the area of operations, but their landing on Egyptian soil was expected.

British planes with cannon and rocket fire were reported to be striking hard at five Egyptian airfields in the Suez zone and Nile delta in an effort to destroy Nas-

Special Legislature Session Called To Outlaw Strikes Against Utilities

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche has called a special session of the Ohio Legislature for Nov. 9 to outlaw public utility strikes and require arbitration of grievances.

He called the session after a conference Wednesday aimed at ending the 110-day strike against Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. and providing emergency service to the Portsmouth area.

Republican leaders were quick to criticize the five-ter.. Democratic governor for the action.

State Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan), speaker of the Ohio House, said he could not "see the wisdom of a special session." He said the governor has authority to maintain law and order and could move the Ohio National Guard to the Portsmouth area "without invitation from anyone."

Cloud said he had not talked to the governor and did not know what legislation Lausche had in mind. He added, however, that a Wisconsin law banning strikes against public utilities was declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court in 1951.

The governor's opponent in his race for the U. S. Senate, Sen. George H. Bender, said Lausche's action in calling the session was a "direct confession of failure."

"Gov. Lausche has given this strike only the same kind of half-hearted, lackadaisical treatment which he has brought to other problems affecting our state," Bender declared.

The Portsmouth Voluntary Citizens Committee for Law Enforcement asked the governor for the special session when it became apparent the company would not provide emergency service.

The company says it will resume service when what it calls "law and order" is an established fact in the Portsmouth area. That area has been without telephone service three times since the strike began last July 15. The latest shutdown began Oct. 16 after the company's exchanges there were stoned.

Paul E. Flohr, co-chairman of the citizens committee, said the group always thought there could be a compromise on the strike and "we will not be pushed into asking for the National Guard."

Lausche emphasized that legislation he will ask the special session

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said that at the time Eisenhower went on the air he had not seen a telegram from Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President, expressing hope "that you will not commit us to any precipitate military action."

Eisenhower said the U. N. General Assembly should be able to bring "the opinion of the world" to bear on the situation created by Israel's attack on Egypt and British-French intervention.

He chided Britain, France and Israel but added that all had been provoked by Egyptian actions.

He said he has no plan to call a special session of Congress. But promised to maintain close contact with congressional leaders.

A few hours before Eisenhower spoke, the State Department banned travel by U. S. citizens into Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Syria except where a trip is determined to be in this country's "best interests."

The department announced also that 1,888 Americans had been evacuated from the same four countries by late Wednesday afternoon, and that by its count 4,878 Americans remained. It said the Air Force and units of the 6th Fleet are aiding in the evacuation.

The Martime Administration, meanwhile, advised all U. S. merchant ships to avoid the Suez Canal area until the Middle East situation is clarified.

Eisenhower described the tangled situation in his speech, and then said: "In the circumstances I have described, there will be no United States involvement in these present hostitilites."

Eisenhower declared that the Israeli, British and French decisions to attack Egypt were decisions "taken in error."

Yet to say that the U. S. government considers the British, and Israeli actions wrong, Eisenhower declared, "is in no way to minimize our friendship with these nations nor our determination to maintain those friendships."

Earlier in his speech, Eisenhower said that "in Eastern Europe there is the dawning of a new day."

"If the Soviet Union faithfully acts upon its announced intention," he said. "the world will witness the greatest forward stride toward justice, trust and understanding among nations in our generation."

He reaffirmed U. S. readiness to assist the new governments of Hungary and Poland with economic help.

Italian Marshal Badoglio Is Dead

GRAZZANO BADOGLIO, Italy (AP)—Thousands of Italian war veterans assembled in this north Italian village to pay homage to Marshal Pietro Badoglio, 85, their wartime leader, who died today.

The old soldier, who rode in triumph into Addis Ababa in 1936 and who was chosen by the late King Vittorio Emmanuele III to replace the dictator Mussolini in 1943, had long been retired from public life. He left his home in Rome last August to return to his native village.

U. S. Reported Set To Lead U. N. Parley

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States was reported ready today to take the lead in pressing the emergency U. N. Assembly for a quick Middle East cease-fire.

This word came as the 76-nation Assembly prepared to meet tonight to try to get around the difficulties raised by British and French vetoes in the Security Council.

Whether Britain and France would attend the meeting still was not known. Spokesmen for the two delegations said the question had not been decided.

Both countries vigorously opposed the calling of the meeting.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., was reported to be working with a group of other countries, including key members of the African-Asian bloc, on a resolution which would call for an immediate cease-fire and demand the immediate withdrawl of Israeli, British and French forces from Egyptian territory.

The U. N. Security Council voted 7-2 Wednesday night to summon the Assembly after Britain and France launched air and naval operations against Egypt with the announced aim of occupying the Suez Canal zone and halting the Israeli-Egyptian fighting.

Less than 24 hours earlier Britain and France had vetoed U. S. and Soviet resolutions in the council for a cease-fire in Egypt and withdrawal of Israeli troops.

Under the resolution introduced by Yugoslavia, the special session

Examiners Uncover Intangible Taxes

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers reports $641,434 in intangible taxes has been turned up by tax agents in the last two years.

Bowers said Wednesday the $641,434 represents intangible tax liability against holders of notes and land contracts that were not listed on tax returns.

Bowers said his tax agents uncover about $6 million annually in auditing personal property tax returns.

Egyptian Air Field Battered By Warplanes

Israel Claims Enemy Being Bottled Up in Sinai Desert Fighting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

British and French planes carried on nonstop attacks on Egyptian airfields today and Cairo announced attacking aircraft sank an Egyptian warship in the Suez Canal—blocking traffic and cutting off oil shipping to Europe.

Cairo said British and French warplanes raided Egyptian troops at crossing points along the canal and in the operation sank the Egyptian warship Akka in Timsah Lake just south of Ismailia, midway point of the Canal.

Britain and France launched military operations against President Nasser's regime Wednesday night with the declared purpose of protecting the waterway from fighting swirling between Egyptian and Israeli forces in the Sinai Desert.

The Egyptian statement said:

"Britain and France stopped navigation in the canal by their action at a time when they claimed they were protecting navigation in the canal.

IN A FIGHTING speech to his people, Nasser promised "we will fight from village to village, from place to place," until Egypt wins victory.

In a 20-minute broadcast, Nasser pledged he would fight "to the last drop of my blood" to secure Egyptian independence.

"Every one of you is a soldier," he declared. "Arms have been distributed to every one able to carry them. We shall fight hard. We shall never give up. We shall be victorious."

The Egyptians gave out no official information today on the fighting with Israeli troops. But the Israelis claimed Egyptian troops were in retreat and would soon be cut off in Sinai.

Even before Egypt announced blocking of the canal, shipping was reported turning back from its approaches because of danger from military operations.

An Egyptian government broadcast appealed to the Arabs, whose oil powers much of Western Europe's economy, to stop the flow of oil to the British and French "even if it means blowing up all the pipelines in the Middle East." The lines pass through Lebanon and Syria, both allies of Egypt.

Egypt broke off diplomatic relations with Britain and France. Jordan broke relations with France and informed Britain that it would not allow Jordanian airports or Jordanian soil to be used under any circumstances as bases for attack against Egypt or any other Arab state.

IRAQ ORDERED full mobilization of its armed forces in readiness for any Israeli attack on Jordan.

Cairo dispatches said five air raid alarms sounded in Cairo up to early afternoon, and Egyptian military headquarters claimed six British planes were shot down over the Nile delta.

Troops of the two Western nations had not shown up in the area of operations, but their landing on Egyptian soil was expected.

British planes with cannon and rocket fire were reported to be striking hard at five Egyptian airfields in the Suez zone and Nile delta in an effort to destroy Nas-

Special Legislature Session Called To Outlaw Strikes Against Utilities

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche has called a special session of the Ohio Legislature for Nov. 9 to outlaw public utility strikes and require arbitration of grievances.

He called the session after a conference Wednesday aimed at ending the 110-day strike against Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. and providing emergency service to the Portsmouth area.

Republican leaders were quick to criticize the five-ter.. Democratic governor for the action.

State Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan), speaker of the Ohio House, said he could not "see the wisdom of a special session." He said the governor has authority to maintain law and order and could move the Ohio National Guard to the Portsmouth area "without invitation from anyone."

Cloud said he had not talked to the governor and did not know what legislation Lausche had in mind. He added, however, that a Wisconsin law banning strikes against public utilities was declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court in 1951.

The governor's opponent in his race for the U. S. Senate, Sen. George H. Bender, said Lausche's action in calling the session was a "direct confession of failure."

"Gov. Lausche has given this strike only the same kind of half-hearted, lackadaisical treatment which he has brought to other problems affecting our state," Bender declared.

The Portsmouth Voluntary Citizens Committee for Law Enforcement asked the governor for the special session when it became apparent the company would not provide emergency service.

The company says it will resume service when what it calls "law and order" is an established fact in the Portsmouth area. That area has been without telephone service three times since the strike began last July 15. The latest shutdown began Oct. 16 after the company's exchanges there were stoned.

Paul E. Flohr, co-chairman of the citizens committee, said the group always thought there could be a compromise on the strike and "we will not be pushed into asking for the National Guard."

Lausche emphasized that legislation he will ask the special session

ser's Soviet-built MIG air force on the ground.

British pilots said they had destroyed 14 Egyptian planes on the ground, including Soviet MIG15 fighters. The pilots said they had encountered almost no resistance.

It was limited, they said, to ineffective antiaircraft fire and a lone fighter which attempted to intervene.

The air strikes, beginning at dawn after a night of British and French bombing attacks, were aimed at the airfields of Abu Sueir, Fayid and Kabrit in the canal zine, Inchass, 35 miles from Cairo, and Kasfareet.

The British and French forces went into action after Egypt rejected a demand from the London and Paris governments that their troops be admitted temporarily to the canal zone to protect the waterway and end the Egyptian-Israeli fighting.

Britain and France said their forces would occupy positions in Port Said and Suez, the terminal points of the canal, and Ismailia, the major military base midway along the Suez. Both governments insisted their stay would be only temporary.

Egyptian army headquarters in Cairo had said Wednesday night that British jet bombers dropped high explosive bombs and incendiaries on Cairo, the big seaport of Alexandria and the Suez Canal cities of Port Said, Ismailia and Suez.

The communique said seven persons were killed in this raid on Cairo and "slight damage was caused." It said the city's international airport, various military airfields and a military academy were hit.

Shops opened normally today. Work went ahead on construction sites and life moved along in the usual way, although the atmosphere seemed more subdued.

Details of actual operations were scanty. Censorship was in force in Egypt, Israel and at the British Mediterranean base islands of Cyprus and Malta.

Israeli military sources in Tel Aviv claimed nine Egyptian planes downed by Israeli fighters. They said the nine included an advanced Soviet-type MIG 17.

The Israeli government radio called on Egyptian soldiers today to lay down their arms in the Sinai Peninsula and warned them that they would be completely encircled and isolated shortly.

The Sinai Peninsula was the first objective of the Israelis in the opening action Monday night. The government radio hinted the peninsula was almost encircled and that Israelis believe victory in the peninsula is in sight.

The government radio earlier announced, and a government spokesman confirmed, that Israeli forces captured Rafa, at the southern end of the Gaza Smrip, not far from the Mediterranean. This suggested the Israelis also have encircled the Gaza Strip area adjoining Sinai.

They may also have cut off the special Gaza Strip army of Palestine Arabs, trained and led by Egyptian officers. The Israeli army spokesman said Egyptian forces "are retreating in disorder" but declined to elaborate.

Israeli and Egyptian troops had been believed battling for the vital main highway stretching from the Israeli border across the Sinai Peninsula to Ismailia — midway point on the Suez Canal.

Highland County Man To Face Court Here

Richard Snyder of Highland County is now in the Fayette County jail awaiting arraignment in Municipal Court here for the theft of hubcaps and other automobile parts.

He was arrested in Hillsboro nearly a month ago along with five Highland County teenagers. Snyder was sentenced to jail and the youths implicated with him were placed on probation in Highland County.

After they had been questioned by Deputies Charles Hays and Don Thompson of Fayette County and Patrolman Hershel Taylor of the Washington C. H. police, a hold warrant was placed against Snyder. When he was released from jail in Hillsboro, Sheriff Orland Hays was there to take him in custody and bring him here.

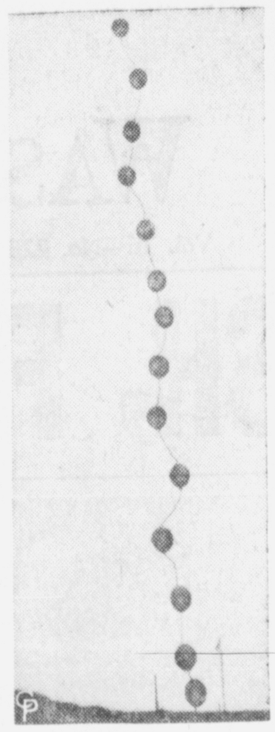

Interest in the six nabbed in Highland County stemmed from an epidemic of hubcap stealing here, mostly in the county just outside Washington C. H.

Australia OKs 'Police Action'

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies told Parliament tonight the British military move against Egypt was a "police action."

He declared it was a proper move, taken in a state of great emergency to keep the armies of Israel and Egypt apart and thus permit mediation.

Aerial Fence-Building

RUIDOSO, N. M. (AP) — The Mescalero Apaches took to the air to build a fence high in the White Mountains. They solved the problem of getting steel fence posts into place by hiring the pilot of a light plane to fly them in and drop them at correct intervals along the strip the fence was to be built.

Highland County Man To Face Court Here

Richard Snyder of Highland County is now in the Fayette County jail awaiting arraignment in Municipal Court here for the theft of hubcaps and other automobile parts.

He was arrested in Hillsboro nearly a month ago along with five Highland County teenagers. Snyder was sentenced to jail and the youths implicated with him were placed on probation in Highland County.

After they had been questioned by Deputies Charles Hays and Don Thompson of Fayette County and Patrolman Hershel Taylor of the Washington C. H. police, a hold warrant was placed against Snyder. When he was released from jail in Hillsboro, Sheriff Orland Hays was there to take him in custody and bring him here.

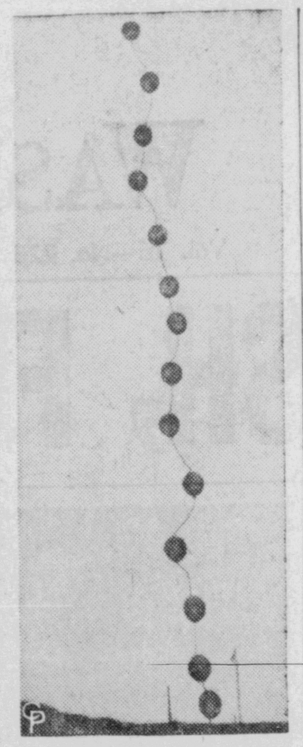

Interest in the six nabbed in Highland County stemmed from an epidemic of hubcap stealing here, mostly in the county just outside Washington C. H.

Russian Policy Appears To Be Backfiring

Probably the most significant development in the Communist world since Russia assumed the controlling power over most neighboring countries has been Poland's action in taking steps to free its government from Russia's supervision. Doubly significant also is the Hungarian riots to accomplish the same purpose and the uneasy attitude of the people of Czechoslovakia, who apparently are waiting for the right time to strike hard.

World observers seem to agree that Nikita Krushchev who emerged following Stalin's death as the powerful figure in the Soviet empire is close to reaping a whirlwind. The Stalin policy of cruel and crushing repression cannot keep the Red empire enslaved indefinitely and here and there appears to be a cracking in the iron rule.

Russia may be able to hold back rebellion again for a time but it is on its way and eventually will bring changes, even though Russian leaders are attempting to maintain power by showing some relaxation of their iron grip in order to maintain Communism.

It is curious and instructive to reflect that the spreading ferment in the satellite nations against the Soviet Union is a political phenomenon which in other parts of the world, notably Asia, the Russians have done all they can to encourage.

The name of this phenomenon is nationalism. The Russians, in their eagerness to disseminate the virus of nationalism in Asia, the Middle East, South America and everywhere else they could do so to the detriment of the free world, perhaps never thought of the danger of this communicable disease creeping into their own system. But so it seems to have turned out.

After years of preaching to nations under Western influence on "liberation from the yoke of imperialism," the Russians are finding that the peoples within their own unwieldy empire are just as eager to assert their independence—and generally with far better reason than the undeveloped peoples to whom the Reds have directed their sermons. Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria, and Albania—to say nothing of East Germany—have a long history of national government behind them.

The chances are that the Soviet Union, in unleashing the nationalistic virus, may inadvertently bring about the decay of its own empire.

Potomac Fever -- Odd Illness

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Courting the presidency of the United States is a lot like courting a girl.

Courtship often has these three stages:

1. The bashful beau is introduced to a girl everybody says is the belle of the neighborhood, but all he can see is her warts.

2. He discovers she is truly noble, so noble he couldn't possibly ever be worthy of her, so he might as well say farewell.

3. Then he sees another guy ask her for a date, and immediately the reluctant suitor becomes a besieging tiger. Now she is not only the most desirable girl in the world, he is sure he is the one lad in the county who can make her happy. And he wants to climb a mountain or swim an ocean to prove it.

And doesn't a political candidate's romance with the presidency sometimes go through the same three stages?

Both Dwight Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson went through the bashful beau stage and the I-ain't-the-guy-for-such - a - great-big-job stage before 1952, when they finally got down to the third, or brass tacks stage.

Today they're in a brass knucks return engagement. Who would have thought only six years ago that these two fine men, so dubious then even of dreaming of the presidency, would now be clobbering each other for the right to that job, like two kids trying to get the last piece of cake at a birthday party?

"It's a mystery to me why anybody even takes the job," many a voter says. "I wouldn't take it for twice the dough."

That's what he says. But if 10 of his neighbors told him he'd make a good president he'd begin to wonder. If 100 told him the same thing he'd begin to believe it himself. If 1,000 told him this, he'd pawn his motor car to raise funds to launch his campaign.

That's the odd thing about "Potomac fever." Under the right conditions anybody can be infected by it—from a veternarian to a general, from a lady reformer to a lawyer.

Just why no one knows. For if courting the presidency is like courting with a girl, winning the presidency is like marrying a jealous woman with 169 million in-laws, all of them think they have a claim on you.

The president is supposed to hold the most powerful office in the world, but he can't even buy a necktie or drop in to see a movie by himself.

From the standpoint of leading a normal carefree human life, the winner in the Nov. 6 election will be the loser, the loser will be the winner.

But the defeated man won't feel that way. Those who have wooed and lost the presidency often are more bitter than those who have merely loved and lost a woman.

"I propose that unsuccessful candidates for the presidency be quietly hanged, as a matter of public sanitation and decorum," wrote the late H. L. Mencken. "The sight of their grief must have a very evil effect upon the young."

No Substitute for Experience

By George Sokolsky

If President Eisenhower is re-elected by a large vote, it will tell the amateurs who surround Adlai Stevenson that there is no substitute for experience.

In New York, for instance, the professional politicians have been pushed aside. Stevenson's campaign is being managed by Thomas K. Finletter and Anna Rosenberg, both long - time operators in government but neither of them professionals in party organization and in that mechanism of politics called "bringing out the vote."

On another front, namely that of issues, the Stevenson brain-trust which includes such figures as John Hersey and Arthur Schlesinger Jr., who, while they are bright in their own fields, picked issues which may mean much to them but have little currency among the American people.

For instance, take the Nixon issue. When people ask: "What did Nixon do?" there is no answer. They say that he is an opportunist, a time - server, on all sides of all questions, etc., etc. But when one asks, "What did Nixon do?" there are no details. Obviously, Nixon pursued the Alger Hiss case and he eliminated Helen Gahagan Douglas from politics.

In New York, Nixon is accused of being an anti-Semite. Why? The only explanation that can be found is that he once said that Melvyn Douglas true name is Hesselberg. So what? After all, Hesselberg is a good a name as Douglas and if the actor is Scotch, I am an Arab. Maybe, I ought to be hanged for once writing that Douglas Fairbanks' true name was Rudolph Ullman.

I, personally, dislike the idea of people changing their names although maybe Montmorency is more euphonious than Sokolsky. Who knows? But does that make anyone an anti- Semite?

Then when the Nixon job went sour, they hit on "drop - the-draft," on the assumption that they would get the Mama vote. But what these amateurs failed to realize is that 1956 is not 1917.

In 1917, it was possible to sing a song like, "I Didn't Raise My Boy To Be a Soldier," along with "Over There." But in 1956, we have been through two world wars and the Korean War and Americans do not like Russia and they dislike Khrushchev as much as they did Stalin. And most Americans believe that if we let down our guard, the Russiand will get us, if they can. So while the draft is unpopular, no adult person really believes that a high-priced professional army will serve as well.

Someone suggested that instead of the draft we should put all the juvenile delinquents in the army which is stupid because an army of bums would only be good for looting and rape and such people are usually cowards and would easily be brain-washed by the Communists if taken prisoner. The citizen's army is a good institution and most Americans believe that that is a fair way to do things — except for a few termites who worm their way out.

So the issue dropped dead and then they hit on the abolish the testing of the H-bomb issue, forgetting that the United States has been trying to abolish the bomb since 1946 when the Baruch plan was proposed, but that the Russians refused to go along. Albert Einstein, no hater of Russia, wrote:

". . .It is, indeed, the attitude of the Soviet government, that was partly negative and partly dilatory, which has made it so difficult for well - meaning people in this country to use their political influence as they would have wanted, and to oppose the 'war mongers.'. . ."

Einstein wrote this in 1948 and what he said then has been true since, although, Bulganin now comes up with a letter to President Eisenhower which, in effect, is a campaign document in favor of Stevenson.

If Bulganin believes that he can influence an American election the way his gang attempted to dominate Poland's decisions, he does not understand that he has done Stevenson about as much harm as one man can do another. For Stevenson will always suffer the stigma of having been favored by Bulganin, which for an American candidate is as bad as though he had been endorsed by Hitler while this country was at war with Germany.

No! There is no substitute for experience and Stevenson is paying a heavy price for subordinating the professionals, something that Franklin D. Roosevelt never did.

Case Institute Likes Ike, O'Neill

CLEVELAND (AP)—A mock election of Case Institute of Technology has given President Eisenhower a 2-1 victory margin. C. William O'Neill, Republican gubernatorial nominee, got almost as bit a margin over Democrat Michael V. DiSalle.

The vote: Eisenhower 542, Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson 244; O'Neill 502, DiSalle 277. One factor in the governor vote, students said, was that O'Neill gave a speech at Case last week.

Personality Is Clue To Tension Headache

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

There's one thing I dare say many Democratic and Republican candidates have in common these days. And many of you probably share it with them.

With all the excitement of the closing days of the political campaign, tension headache undoubtedly is a big problem among the voters as well as the candidates.

Sizeable Problem

Even under more ordinary circumstances, tension headache is a sizable problem. Doctors generally concede that this is the most common type of headache.

Most persons bothered with tension headache are over the age of 20. About twice as many women are affected as are men. Many victims of frequent headaches have a long family history of similar trouble.

Since emotions obviously play a major role in this type of headache, it seems natural that a particular type of personality is most likely to suffer from this condition. And most studies bear this out.

Well-Adjusted Life

I don't mean that the tension headache patient is necessarily neurotic. He may have a well-adjusted life.

Many victims of frequent tension headaches, for some reason, find themselves unable to meet their own high standards. Inwardly, they are threatened by rage and anxiety.

In many cases, the headache is precipitated by problems of aggression and anger. The average patient, however, usually is unaware that anger plays any role in triggering the headache.

Symptomatic Headaches

While tension headaches have no special characteristics to distinguish them from symptomatic headaches, the attacks are constant or daily in 90 per cent of the cases.

Seldom is there any indication that an attack is about to occur.

Victims describe the pain as "dull," "throbbing," or "pressing," and it may vary in type from time to time.

Most frequently, the pain is located in the back of the head and neck. Sometimes it centers in the front of the head or the side and temples. Occasionally, it is generally diffused or may be more severe in the top of the head, the eyes or even the face.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

D. R.: I have been told that I have too much insulin in my system. What is the cause of this?

Answer: This is usually caused by overactivity of the pancreas, a gland in the abdomen which gives off insulin into the blood.

The jack rabbit received its name from the fact that its long ears were thought to resemble those of a jackass.

DO YOU WANT THE TRUTH OR WILL YOU PAY THE CONSEQUENCES

REHABILITATION - What's behind it?

For years children at Staunton and Milledgeville schools have been forced to use outside toilets. It is a disgrace to a prosperous community.

Miami Trace and Mr. Hilty remind us almost daily how tremendously wealthy, what a rich (40 million) district we are. They impress us with the small amount it will cost to build a $1,652,500 school. They find thousands of dollars to spend in recently renovating other schools, buying new buses, some thirty-five thousand dollars in all, but no money to build toilets for our youngsters.

Why is it, all these years have passed without the comparatively small expenditure to build modern toilets in these two schools? It has been held off intentionally, with our children being inconvenienced all these years, just so the new toilets (rehabilitation) could be lumped in with the new school bond issue to get more votes in Concord and Jasper townships. That's politics of the first magnitude — we are to vote for two million dollars debt so our children can have the normal facilities they should have had years ago. If we are the suckers we are supposed to be, Miami Trace gets a shining new building and we get a $2,120,000 headache for 21 years.

Russian Policy Appears To Be Backfiring

Probably the most significant development in the Communist world since Russia assumed the controlling power over most neighboring countries has been Poland's action in taking steps to free its government from Russia's supervision. Doubly significant also is the Hungarian riots to accomplish the same purpose and the uneasy attitude of the people of Czechoslovakia, who apparently are waiting for the right time to strike hard.

World observers seem to agree that Nikita Krushchev who emerged following Stalin's death as the powerful figure in the Soviet empire is close to reaping a whirlwind. The Stalin policy of cruel and crushing repression cannot keep the Red empire enslaved indefinitely and here and there appears to be a cracking in the iron rule.

Russia may be able to hold back rebellion again for a time but it is on its way and eventually will bring changes, even though Russian leaders are attempting to maintain power by showing some relaxation of their iron grip in order to maintain Communism.

It is curious and instructive to reflect that the spreading ferment in the satellite nations against the Soviet Union is a political phenomenon which in other parts of the world, notably Asia, the Russians have done all they can to encourage.

The name of this phenomenon is nationalism. The Russians, in their eagerness to disseminate the virus of nationalism in Asia, the Middle East, South America and everywhere else they could do so to the detriment of the free world, perhaps never thought of the danger of this communicable disease creeping into their own system. But so it seems to have turned out.

After years of preaching to nations under Western influence on "liberation from the yoke of imperialism," the Russians are finding that the peoples within their own unwieldy empire are just as eager to assert their independence—and generally with far better reason than the undeveloped peoples to whom the Reds have directed their sermons. Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria, and Albania—to say nothing of East Germany—have a long history of national government behind them.

The chances are that the Soviet Union, in unleashing the nationalistic virus, may inadvertently bring about the decay of its own empire.

Potomac Fever -- Odd Illness

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Courting the presidency of the United States is a lot like courting a girl.

Courtship often has these three stages:

1. The bashful beau is introduced to a girl everybody says is the belle of the neighborhood, but all he can see is her warts.

2. He discovers she is truly noble, so noble he couldn't possibly ever be worthy of her, so he might as well say farewell.

3. Then he sees another guy ask her for a date, and immediately the reluctant suitor becomes a besieging tiger. Now she is not only the most desirable girl in the world, he is sure he is the one lad in the county who can make her happy. And he wants to climb a mountain or swim an ocean to prove it.

And doesn't a political candidate's romance with the presidency sometimes go through the same three stages?

Both Dwight Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson went through the bashful beau stage and the I-ain't-the-guy-for-such - a - great-big-job stage before 1952, when they finally got down to the third, or brass tacks stage.

Today they're in a brass knucks return engagement. Who would have thought only six years ago that these two fine men, so dubious then even of dreaming of the presidency, would now be clobbering each other for the right to that job, like two kids trying to get the last piece of cake at a birthday party?

"It's a mystery to me why anybody even takes the job," many a voter says. "I wouldn't take it for twice the dough."

That's what he says. But if 10 of his neighbors told him he'd make a good president he'd begin to wonder. If 100 told him the same thing he'd begin to believe it himself. If 1,000 told him this, he'd pawn his motor car to raise funds to launch his campaign.

That's the odd thing about "Potomac fever." Under the right conditions anybody can be infected by it—from a veternarian to a general, from a lady reformer to a lawyer.

Just why no one knows. For if courting the presidency is like courting with a girl, winning the presidency is like marrying a jealous woman with 169 million in-laws, all of them think they have a claim on you.

The president is supposed to hold the most powerful office in the world, but he can't even buy a necktie or drop in to see a movie by himself.

From the standpoint of leading a normal carefree human life, the winner in the Nov. 6 election will be the loser, the loser will be the winner.

But the defeated man won't feel that way. Those who have wooed and lost the presidency often are more bitter than those who have merely loved and lost a woman.

"I propose that unsuccessful candidates for the presidency be quietly hanged, as a matter of public sanitation and decorum," wrote the late H. L. Mencken. "The sight of their grief must have a very evil effect upon the young."

No Substitute for Experience

By George Sokolsky

If President Eisenhower is re-elected by a large vote, it will tell the amateurs who surround Adlai Stevenson that there is no substitute for experience.

In New York, for instance, the professional politicians have been pushed aside. Stevenson's campaign is being managed by Thomas K. Finletter and Anna Rosenberg, both long - time operators in government but neither of them professionals in party organization and in that mechanism of politics called "bringing out the vote."

On another front, namely that of issues, the Stevenson brain-trust which includes such figures as John Hersey and Arthur Schlesinger Jr., who, while they are bright in their own fields, picked issues which may mean much to them but have little currency among the American people.

For instance, take the Nixon issue. When people ask: "What did Nixon do?" there is no answer. They say that he is an opportunist, a time - server, on all sides of all questions, etc., etc. But when one asks, "What did Nixon do?" there are no details. Obviously, Nixon pursued the Alger Hiss case and he eliminated Helen Gahagan Douglas from politics.

In New York, Nixon is accused of being an anti-Semite. Why? The only explanation that can be found is that he once said that Melvyn Douglas true name is Hesselberg. So what? After all, Hesselberg is a good a name as Douglas and if the actor is Scotch, I am an Arab. Maybe, I ought to be hanged for once writing that Douglas Fairbanks' true name was Rudolph Ullman.

I, personally, dislike the idea of people changing their names although maybe Montmorency is more euphonious than Sokolsky. Who knows? But does that make anyone an anti- Semite?

Then when the Nixon job went sour, they hit on "drop - the-draft," on the assumption that they would get the Mama vote. But what these amateurs failed to realize is that 1956 is not 1917.

In 1917, it was possible to sing a song like, "I Didn't Raise My Boy To Be a Soldier," along with "Over There." But in 1956, we have been through two world wars and the Korean War and Americans do not like Russia and they dislike Khrushchev as much as they did Stalin. And most Americans believe that if we let down our guard, the Russiand will get us, if they can. So while the draft is unpopular, no adult person really believes that a high-priced professional army will serve as well.

Someone suggested that instead of the draft we should put all the juvenile delinquents in the army which is stupid because an army of bums would only be good for looting and rape and such people are usually cowards and would easily be brain-washed by the Communists if taken prisoner. The citizen's army is a good institution and most Americans believe that that is a fair way to do things — except for a few termites who worm their way out.

So the issue dropped dead and then they hit on the abolish the testing of the H-bomb issue, forgetting that the United States has been trying to abolish the bomb since 1946 when the Baruch plan was proposed, but that the Russians refused to go along. Albert Einstein, no hater of Russia, wrote:

". . .It is, indeed, the attitude of the Soviet government, that was partly negative and partly dilatory, which has made it so difficult for well - meaning people in this country to use their political influence as they would have wanted, and to oppose the 'war mongers.'. . ."

Einstein wrote this in 1948 and what he said then has been true since, although, Bulganin now comes up with a letter to President Eisenhower which, in effect, is a campaign document in favor of Stevenson.

If Bulganin believes that he can influence an American election the way his gang attempted to dominate Poland's decisions, he does not understand that he has done Stevenson about as much harm as one man can do another. For Stevenson will always suffer the stigma of having been favored by Bulganin, which for an American candidate is as bad as though he had been endorsed by Hitler while this country was at war with Germany.

No! There is no substitute for experience and Stevenson is paying a heavy price for subordinating the professionals, something that Franklin D. Roosevelt never did.

Case Institute Likes Ike, O'Neill

CLEVELAND (AP)—A mock election of Case Institute of Technology has given President Eisenhower a 2-1 victory margin. C. William O'Neill, Republican gubernatorial nominee, got almost as bit a margin over Democrat Michael V. DiSalle.

The vote: Eisenhower 542, Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson 244; O'Neill 502, DiSalle 277. One factor in the governor vote, students said, was that O'Neill gave a speech at Case last week.

Personality Is Clue To Tension Headache

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

There's one thing I dare say many Democratic and Republican candidates have in common these days. And many of you probably share it with them.

With all the excitement of the closing days of the political campaign, tension headache undoubtedly is a big problem among the voters as well as the candidates.

Sizeable Problem

Even under more ordinary circumstances, tension headache is a sizable problem. Doctors generally concede that this is the most common type of headache.

Most persons bothered with tension headache are over the age of 20. About twice as many women are affected as are men. Many victims of frequent headaches have a long family history of similar trouble.

Since emotions obviously play a major role in this type of headache, it seems natural that a particular type of personality is most likely to suffer from this condition. And most studies bear this out.

Well-Adjusted Life

I don't mean that the tension headache patient is necessarily neurotic. He may have a well-adjusted life.

Generally, however, he is a tense, rigid, ambitious, driving perfectionist.

Many victims of frequent tension headaches, for some reason, find themselves unable to meet their own high standards. Inwardly, they are threatened by rage and anxiety.

In many cases, the headache is precipitated by problems of aggression and anger. The average patient, however, usually is unaware that anger plays any role in triggering the headache.

Symptomatic Headaches

While tension headaches have no special characteristics to distinguish them from symptomatic headaches, the attacks are constant or daily in 90 per cent of the cases.

Seldom is there any indication that an attack is about to occur.

Victims describe the pain as "dull," "throbbing," or "pressing," and it may vary in type from time to time.

Most frequently, the pain is located in the back of the head and neck. Sometimes it centers in the front of the head or the side and temples. Occasionally, it is generally diffused or may be more severe in the top of the head, the eyes or even the face.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

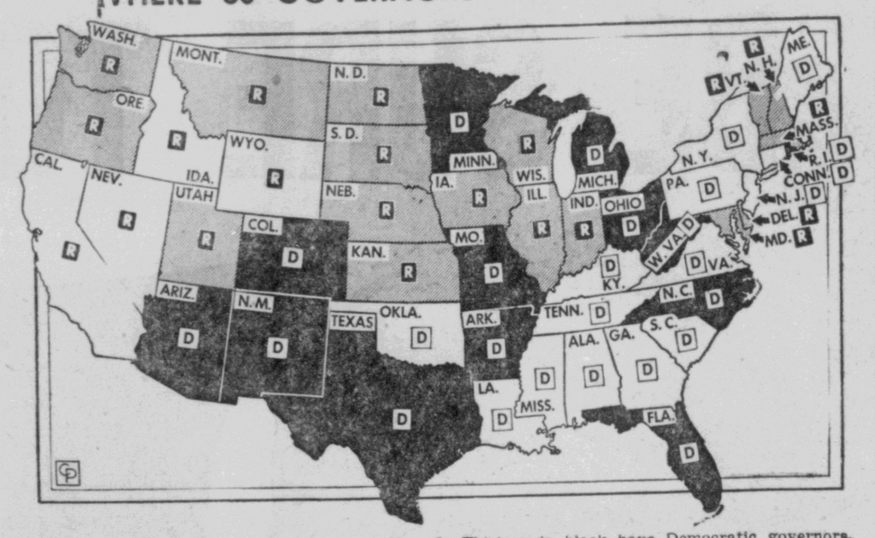

D. R.: I have been told that I have too much insulin in my system. What is the cause of this?

Answer: This is usually caused by overactivity of the pancreas, a gland in the abdomen which gives off insulin into the blood. Sometimes this overactivity is due to a tumor growth.

The jack rabbit received its name from the fact that its long ears were thought to resemble those of a jackass.

FAYETTE COUNTY
SCHOOL FACTS NO. 8

DO YOU WANT THE TRUTH OR WILL YOU PAY THE CONSEQUENCES

REHABILITATION - What's behind it?

For years children at Staunton and Milledgeville schools have been forced to use outside toilets. It is a disgrace to a prosperous community.

Miami Trace and Mr. Hilty remind us almost daily how tremendously wealthy, what a rich (40 million) district we are. They impress us with the small amount it will cost to build a $1,652,500 school. They find thousands of dollars to spend in recently renovating other schools, buying new buses, some thirty-five thousand dollars in all, but no money to build toilets for our youngsters.

Why is it, all these years have passed without the comparatively small expenditure to build modern toilets in these two schools? It has been held off intentionally, with our children being inconvenienced all these years, just so the new toilets (rehabilitation) could be lumped in with the new school bond issue to get more votes in Concord and Jasper townships. That's politics of the first magnitude — we are to vote for two million dollars debt so our children can have the normal facilities they should have had years ago. If we are the suckers we are supposed to be, Miami Trace gets a shining new building and we get a $2,120,000 headache for 21 years.

'Nose' Knows Rose

By JOSEPH WHITT
(Central Press Association)

PARIS — "A 'nose'—that's my title," said Pierre Duval, sipping his wine in the Cafe de la Paix. "To me a perfume is more than a perfume. Each one is unique."

Perfumes, he explained, match the season, the weather, the occasion and the mood. They can be gay or serious. They can be cool or passionate.

Can these distinctions be detected?

"Certainly," he said. "That's my profession."

* * *

THE PERFUME industry, it appears, hires connoisseurs of fragrance known as "noses." They work closely with the chemists. Their job is to sniff and smell. They pass or reject new perfumes. They also check the old ones.

"By merely sniffing," Duval said, "I can detect what is missing in a blend. The essential oils and the south of France, but the perfumes actually are made in Paris. That's where I do my work."

* * *

A GOOD "NOSE" is so important to a perfume maker that once he has one he never lets him go. One company has had the same expert sniffer for nearly 25 years, and his assistants have been with him just as long.

Is being a "nose" a hard job?

"Would you ask a connoisseur if selecting vintage wines is hard work?" Duval said. "I am no Geiger counter. I can test only 10 scents at a time. Then I'm tired and all perfumes smell alike to me.

"A 'nose' is an artist. May father was a 'nose,' and I inherited my talent from him."

Duval nose is aqualine, with sensitive nostrils and a slight bump on the tip. It is a striking nose, but one hardly could judge its ability by its appearance.

Duvall agreed. "My nose can identify between 300 and 400 scents. In that lies my greatness. My ambition is to discover a famous perfume. The formulae are kept secret. They never are revealed."

* * *

WHAT RULES should an average woman follow in shopping for perfume?

Duval sipped his wine and said, "I'd tell her the following rules: select a perfume gratifying to your ego; don't be pressured by a snooty salesgirl into buying a scent unpleasing to you; sniff more than once to learn the true nature of a frangrance; and don't wear any perfume when you're shopping for one."

As Duval spoke, a woman sat down at a nearby table. He sniffed. Like a good hunting dog, he became alert and tense. His nostrils quivered.

"What ignorance!" he whispered. "She's wearing a heavy Oriental perfume. She's small. She needs a floral scent."

Duval seemed distressed. He finished his wine and signaled the waiter. "We 'noses' have only two great worries," he said. "One is catching a cold, and the other is a woman without taste."

Eager Retriever Undergoes Surgery

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—An eager retriever that gulped too soon will be released from the hospital this week.

His owner Elmer Herron has been training the dog to catch his keyring and return it. Last week, Blackie made the catch but threw his head back too far and swallowed nine keys.

A veterinarian tried the more conservative methods of removing the keyring from the alimentary canal but all failed. He then resorted to surgery.

Fayette Bond Sales $47,048 in September

R. H. Olinger, chairman of the Fayette County Savings Bonds Committee, reported Thursday that nationwide the dollar volume of Series E and H Savings Bonds held by individuals reached a new high of $41 billion dollars. Of this amount, 15 billion dollars is in matured E Bonds which continue to draw additional interest under the automatic extension option.

Ohio sales of E and H Bonds for September were just over 22 million dollars, a decrease of 10 per cent over the same month a year ago. The county chairman pointed out that while total sales were down, the sale of Series E bonds through the automatic payroll savings plan was on the increase. Over 80 per cent of all Ohio companies which employ one hundred or more people now operate the payroll savings plan for the purchase of United States savings bonds.

September sales of these two issues in Fayette County totaled $47,048.

One county, Vinton, has already achieved its sales goal for 1956, with Ottawa, Holmes, Paulding and Harrison counties well over their 10 - months goals.

Wheels of Progress

LOVINGTON, N. M., (AP)— The sheriff's office here has marked this case "closed."

It started when a youthful voice called and reported the theft of his bicycle. It ended a few minutes later when the same boy called and reported the bicycle had been found.

"My mother rode it to a neighbor's house," the voice said.

Hometown Lacks Violin by Master

CREMONA, Italy (AP) — Of all places, in the town where Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis produced more than 1,000 of his legendary violins, you cannot find a single Stradivarius.

A local museum displays a special section devoted to Stradivarius and two local musicians, Claudio Monteverdi and Amilcare Ponchielli. Collected behind glass panels are the manuscripts of the violin maker, the tools, the paper and wood models he used in his long life, but nothing else. The only violins shown are a "false" Stradivarius and instruments built by his pupil, Carlo Bergonzi.

"You can find Stradivarius instruments in Britain and in the United States, even in India," the guide says sadly, "but not here."

* * *

Soon after Stradivarius' death in 1737, bidding started to secure his celebrated instruments, which were re-sold in France, Britain, Holland and elsewhere. In the first half of the past century many false Stradivarius were already on the market, bearing the Latin label, "Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis faciebat."

Experts now say that genuine labels often went with false violins and vice versa. This was a sly trick by merchants, who thus sold both label and violin separately.

* * *

NEWSPAPERS still announce the discovery of an unknown Stradivarius now and then.

"Out of 100 such reports, one may be true," says Pietro Tatar, who teaches violin making at the International School of Violin Making located in the town.

"There is no secret about the Stradivarius," Tartar says, "unless you want to call a secret the painstaking care with which the old magician chose aged wood, applied his techniques and followed each stage of the production. He did not care how much time each instrument required.

"There is an old legend that the old violin maker had a secret recipe for his varnishes, but the same varnishes can be produced today. All details of the instruments have been thoroughly studied, and there is no secret left," he adds.

"There are other reasons why they are so valuable today. They were among the first 'modern' violins, because Antonius helped develop their present shape; thus their age is a great factor," he points out.

"Stradivarius produced more instruments than anyone of his time, which can explain why so many proved musically excellent," Tatar says.

'Nose' Knows Rose

By JOSEPH WHITT
(Central Press Association)

PARIS — "A 'nose'—that's my title," said Pierre Duval, sipping his wine in the Cafe de la Paix. "To me a perfume is more than a perfume. Each one is unique."

Perfumes, he explained, match the season, the weather, the occasion and the mood. They can be gay or serious. They can be cool or passionate.

Can these distinctions be detected?

* * *

THE PERFUME industry, it appears, hires connoisseurs of fragrance known as "noses." They work closely with the chemists. Their job is to sniff and smell. They pass or reject new perfumes. They also check the old ones.

"By merely sniffing," Duval said, "I can detect what is missing in a blend. The essential oils and the south of France, but the perfumes actually are made in Paris. That's where I do my work."

* * *

A GOOD "NOSE" is so important to a perfume maker that once he has one he never lets him go. One company has had the same expert sniffer for nearly 25 years, and his assistants have been with him just as long.

Is being a "nose" a hard job?

"Would you ask a connoisseur if selecting vintage wines is hard work?" Duval said. "I am no Geiger counter. I can test only 10 scents at a time. Then I'm tired and all perfumes smell alike to me.

"A 'nose' is an artist. May father was a 'nose,' and I inherited my talent from him."

Duval nose is aqualine, with sensitive nostrils and a slight bump on the tip. It is a striking nose, but one hardly could judge its ability by its appearance.

Duvall agreed. "My nose can identify between 300 and 400 scents. In that lies my greatness. My ambition is to discover a famous perfume. The formulae are kept secret. They never are revealed."

* * *

WHAT RULES should an average woman follow in shopping for perfume?

Duval sipped his wine and said, "I'd tell her the following rules: select a perfume gratifying to your ego; don't be pressured by a snooty salesgirl into buying a scent unpleasing to you; sniff more than once to learn the true nature of a frangrance; and don't wear any perfume when you're shopping for one."

As Duval spoke, a woman sat down at a nearby table. He sniffed. Like a good hunting dog, he became alert and tense. His nostrils quivered.

"What ignorance!" he whispered. "She's wearing a heavy Oriental perfume. She's small. She needs a floral scent."

Duval seemed distressed. He finished his wine and signaled the waiter. "We 'noses' have only two great worries," he said. "One is catching a cold, and the other is a woman without taste."

Eager Retriever Undergoes Surgery

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—An eager retriever that gulped too soon will be released from the hospital this week.

His owner Elmer Herron has been training the dog to catch his keyring and return it. Last week, Blackie made the catch but threw his head back too far and swallowed nine keys.

A veterinarian tried the more conservative methods of removing the keyring from the alimentary canal but all failed. He then resorted to surgery.

Fayette Bond Sales $47,048 in September

R. H. Olinger, chairman of the Fayette County Savings Bonds Committee, reported Thursday that nationwide the dollar volume of Series E and H Savings Bonds held by individuals reached a new high of $41 billion dollars. Of this amount, 15 billion dollars is in matured E Bonds which continue to draw additional interest under the automatic extension option.

Ohio sales of E and H Bonds for September were just over 22 million dollars, a decrease of 10 per cent over the same month a year ago. The county chairman pointed out that while total sales were down, the sale of Series E bonds through the automatic payroll savings plan was on the increase. Over 80 per cent of all Ohio companies which employ one hundred or more people now operate the payroll savings plan for the purchase of United States savings bonds.

September sales of these two issues in Fayette County totaled $47,048.

One county, Vinton, has already achieved its sales goal for 1956, with Ottawa, Holmes, Paulding and Harrison counties well over their 10 - months goals.

Wheels of Progress

It started when a youthful voice called and reported the theft of his bicycle. It ended a few minutes later when the same boy called and reported the bicycle had been found.

"My mother rode it to a neighbor's house," the voice said.

Hometown Lacks Violin by Master

CREMONA, Italy (AP) — Of all places, in the town where Antonius Stradivarious Cremonensis produced more than 1,000 of his legendary violins, you cannot find a single Stradivarius.

A local museum displays a special section devoted to Stradivarius and two local musicians, Claudio Monteverdi and Amilcare Ponchielli. Collected behind glass panels are the manuscripts of the violin maker, the tools, the paper and wood models he used in his long life, but nothing else. The only violins shown are a "false" Stradivarius and instruments built by his pupil, Carlo Bergonzi.

"You can find Stradivarius instruments in Britain and in the United States, even in India," the guide says sadly, "but not here."

* * *

Soon after Stradivarius' death in 1737, bidding started to secure his celebrated instruments, which were re-sold in France, Britain, Holland and elsewhere. In the first half of the past century many false Stradivarius were already on the market, bearing the Latin label, "Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis faciebat."

Experts now say that genuine labels often went with false violins and vice versa. This was a sly trick by merchants, who thus sold both label and violin separately.

* * *

NEWSPAPERS still announce the discovery of an unknown Stradivarius now and then.

"Out of 100 such reports, one may be true," says Pietro Tatar, who teaches violin making at the International School of Violin Making located in the town.

"There is no secret about the Stradivarius," Tartar says, "unless you want to call a secret the painstaking care with which the old magician chose aged wood, applied his techniques and followed each stage of the production. He did not care how much time each instrument required.

"There is an old legend that the old violin maker had a secret recipe for his varnishes, but the same varnishes can be produced today. All details of the instruments have been thoroughly studied, and there is no secret left," he adds.

"There are other reasons why they are so valuable today. They were among the first 'modern' violins, because Antonius helped develop their present shape; thus their age is a great factor," he points out.

"Stradivarius produced more instruments than anyone of his time, which can explain why so many proved musically excellent," Tatar says.

Wormy--and Glad

SAVANNAH, Tnn. (AP)—Visitors to this Tennessee river town sometimes are startled when they tune in on the local radio station and the announcer says "This is station W-O-R-M."

He's not kidding and there's a reason for the call letters. This little city of 4,200 calls itself the "fishing worm capital of the world." Its three big worm ranches and many smaller ones ship literally billions of wigglers all over the United States and to numerous foreign countries annually. One firm mails about a million and half worms daily.

NUGGET-TEXTURED WORSTED was chosen for this Chinese red suit from George Carmel's fall and winter collection. In colorful contrast, Aztec sunguard buttons of gold metal close the jacket and button down shoulder tabs. Flat, rounded bands form a "collar" for the cardigan neckline.

The 39-year-old unemployed laborer says Louisville police, who arrested him five times during the past week for loitering, violated his civil rights. The FBI said it would investigate.

Wormy--and Glad

SAVANNAH, Tnn. (AP)—Visitors to this Tennessee river town sometimes are startled when they tune in on the local radio station and the announcer says "This is station W-O-R-M."

He's not kidding and there's a reason for the call letters. This little city of 4,200 calls itself the "fishing worm capital of the world." Its three big worm ranches and many smaller ones ship literally billions of wigglers all over the United States and to numerous foreign countries annually. One firm mails about a million and half worms daily.

NUGGET-TEXTURED WORSTED was chosen for this Chinese red suit from George Carmel's fall and winter collection. In colorful contrast, Aztec sunguard buttons of gold metal close the jacket and button down shoulder tabs. Flat, rounded bands form a "collar" for the cardigan neckline.

Letters to the Editor

Readers' Views on Miami Trace Issue

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

This is especially for those of you who have had the perseverance to wade through the many letters to the editor that have appeared in our newspaper this autumn.

You might ask yourself these questions — Having a mind of your own you probably have.

Have you ever wondered whether or not there are any other folks interested in the Miami Trace bond issue, other than board members, and a few others who have been used as targets for the opposition? There are; even last election over 50 per cent of the rural folks were very interested.

Have you ever wondered what kind of folks are interested in the Miami Trace Bond Issue?

We are rural folks, and I guess when you get right down to it many of us are (I use this term loosely) rural parents, who have a deep concern for the education of our children. Our need is just as great, and just as real to us as is the Washington C. H. grade schools.

How many of the opposition have been in our rural high schools? Do they know (or care) that classes are being held in auditoriums, gymnasiums and cafeterias, for lack of proper space?

What would our opposition do if they had children going to high schools inadequate to meet the needs of today's demand for a well rounded education?

What would our opposition have done last spring when Washington High School found they were so overcrowded they must close their doors to tuition students?

Is it only farmers and rural folks backing the opposition?

What is being fought? Is part of it an old grudge?

Many folks are spending time, money and effort to stop the rural children from having an education equivalent to others. Anyway they are making it look that way....

If someone knocks on your door and asks you not to vote for the Miami Trace bond issue, ask them where they live, how many children they have going to one of the small rural high schools, and how long it has been since they have been in one of them. Since they have so much to say about our situation, they will no doubt understand all these things thoroughly.

To those of us who see the need, and have helped plan for a Miami Trace high school, the time, money and effort spent to fight it is overwhelming.

I can't help but say that I shudder to think of what would have happened to the county and Miami Trace board members had some of their money disappeared, rather than having been spent for school needs.

You know I think some of you folks may be getting a bum steer.

EDITOR, RECORD - HERALD:

This is largely directed to the people of the extreme northern, southern, eastern and western parts of our county.

Most of us in Fayette County certainly know by this time that the State of Ohio intends for Fayette County and every other county to have a Citizens Committee to study the school needs of organization and reorganization.

We are not referring to the committee of two years ago, which had to be disbanded because it did not represent all the school districts in Fayette County, — but, to the new committee which will be formed in Fayette County.

The citizens of the outer areas of Fayette County have specific school problems not faced by the center area.

A new Citizens Committee and qualified survey group will investigate and consider our problems and have understanding for these problems.

Such a survey will understand and recognize the northwestern part of the county's interest in a high school in that area, the Jeffersonville High School. It will consider the important question of transportation time required to move children from this area to a high school located near Washington C. H.

It will consider possible ways to strengthen and enlarge the student body of this school, as an alternative to one single high school.

It will recognize that while four small high schools and one city high school in Fayette County are too many for efficient and effective education, — one high school may not be enough, if other good and valid conditions are considered.

Such a survey would also determine the wishes of those residing in the other outer areas of Fayette County. Would they prefer transportation to a central high school or assignment to nearer existing high schools?

This survey would also investigate possible improvement in junior high school programs, to afford better education for our children.

It would take into consideration, the possibility that the Fayette County high school programs worked out, would also be able to offer up to two years of college right here at home.

The colleges and universities say that such a development must come, if the boys and girls of tomorrow are to have an opportunity for higher education.

It would investigate for areas of improvement in the elementary school operation.

It would examine carefully, the advantages of unity and cooperation between the city and rural school operations.

It would not arbitrarily say one high school for all rural Fayette County, or one high school for the combined city and county, — and disregard all the problems such centralization would impose on many individuals and families, and even on areas of the county.

It would consider the advantages and disadvantages of one district or more than one school district for the entire county.

It would meet with the people to get their reactions before it set up a program. It would submit its findings to the people, — all of them, — for their approval.

Its responsibility would be to the people, not to any school board or any school administrator. By law, it must be independent of school employees, board members or school empires.

The present Miami Trace school program and building proposal would, if passed, create more serious problems than it solved.

It would commit millions of dollars of tax money and the future education of our children to plans, facilities and ideas which could be tremendously harmful to the best interest of our community.

But, a new Citizens Committee, a thorough, unbiased, impartial and expert investigation and honest, sincere cooperation between rural and city areas could give us the educational facilities our children are entitled to, with the greatest economy for our families which must pay the taxes, — and a school organization responsive to the legitimate desires and needs of the individual rather than to power, territory or money.

EDITOR, RECORD - HERALD:

A few days from now we will be privileged to vote on some important issues. In the past few months these issues have been widely discussed both pro and con. From these discussions I have accumulated a few items as they appear to me.

Item 1. For the past few years Fayette County has existed at a modest tax rate, a modest standard of living and outside toilets at the elementary schools.

Item 2. The people of Union and Green townships asked for and were given additions to and toilets in their elementary school buildings.

Item 3. Last year the Miami Trace Local School District proposed a school building program which was defeated by some of the voters of Union Township who apparently wanted to be annexed into Washington C. H. first. They later had a change of mind after election day.

Item 4. This year the Miami Trace local board, now composed of all the county outside Washington C. H., is proposing another and more comprehensive school improvement program.

Item 5. This program has met with vigorous opposition but little constructive help has been volunteered.

Certainly no program will be a perfect solution. The problems have been carefully thought out by those whom we elected to represent us and this is their solution. There might well be better solutions and no one person or group of people can say at this time what is best. Nor will they know any better next year or the year following that. The problem has been a long time in the making and needs a solution yesterday.

The alternatives are fairly clear-cut We can vote for the bond issue and have new and better schools in two years at a cost on par with other neighborhoods or we can defeat the bond issue, continuing the present conditions and watch them get worse. As some have suggested we can even sit back and wait for the government to give us back some of our federal taxes after taking out an appropriate amount for overhead and then making very clear how we are to spend the rest, for there is always a string attached.

In any event, whether the issues are passed or defeated, we must give credit to those who have worked so tirelessly. The opponents of the bill have spared no expense and effort in bringing their views before the eyes and ears of the public. In this they are to be commended for next to sincerity of purpose, courage of convictions is admirable. While not so generously endowed financially the individual members of the school board are to be commended for their unselfish devotion to a task which has had little reward. They have given of their personal time to a much greater extent than the people of Fayette County have a right to.

We have had both sides and now we must vote for certainly we cannot criticize if we do not exercise our duty at the polls and win or lose, perhaps we will all be better people because of it.

Discrepancies Seen in New Sheppard Data

CLEVELAND (AP)—Assistant Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Saul S. Danaceau, who is campaigning for elevation to a judgeship, says there are some discrepancies in a story told by a young woman which led to the reopening of the Marilyn Sheppard murder case.

The informer has been brought to Cleveland and Danaceau said he would confront her with discrepancies in her story "and see what happens."

The assistant prosecutor, who took a statement from the Cleveland woman in a West Virginia institution last week, said he expected "to have this matter cleared up very soon."

Danaceau would not reveal the information he obtained which led to reopening of the murder investigation. Other police sources said, however, that the woman told Danacequ that Dr. Samuel Sheppard beat his wife to death after attacking a man he found in his home.

Cleveland detectives who worked on the case labeled the story as "fantastic."

Dr. Sheppard, 32, a Bay Village osteopath, was convicted of second-degree murder for the bludgeon-slaying of his wife on July 4, 1954, and is serving a life term in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Danaceau's request for the Cleveland homicide bureau to check into the young woman's story was turned down Tuesday by Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze. The mayor said he could not permit police to be used for this purpose because of the manpower shortage and because Bay Village had not paid Cleveland $15,000 for the original investigation of the slaying.

Letters to the Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

This is especially for those of you who have had the perseverance to wade through the many letters to the editor that have appeared in our newspaper this autumn.

You might ask yourself these questions — Having a mind of your own you probably have.

Have you ever wondered whether or not there are any other folks interested in the Miami Trace bond issue, other than board members, and a few others who have been used as targets for the opposition? There are; even last election over 50 per cent of the rural folks were very interested.

Have you ever wondered what kind of folks are interested in the Miami Trace Bond Issue?

We are rural folks, and I guess when you get right down to it many of us are (I use this term loosely) rural parents, who have a deep concern for the education of our children. Our need is just as great, and just as real to us as is the Washington C. H. grade schools.

How many of the opposition have been in our rural high schools? Do they know (or care) that classes are being held in auditoriums, gymnasiums and cafeterias, for lack of proper space?

What would our opposition do if they had children going to high schools inadequate to meet the needs of today's demand for a well rounded education?

What would our opposition have done last spring when Washington High School found they were so overcrowded they must close their doors to tuition students?

Is it only farmers and rural folks backing the opposition?

What is being fought? Is part of it an old grudge?

Many folks are spending time, money and effort to stop the rural children from having an education equivalent to others. Anyway they are making it look that way....

If someone knocks on your door and asks you not to vote for the Miami Trace bond issue, ask them where they live, how many children they have going to one of the small rural high schools, and how long it has been since they have been in one of them. Since they have so much to say about our situation, they will no doubt understand all these things thoroughly.

To those of us who see the need, and have helped plan for a Miami Trace high school, the time, money and effort spent to fight it is overwhelming.

I can't help but say that I shudder to think of what would have happened to the county and Miami Trace board members had some of their money disappeared, rather than having been spent for school needs.

You know I think some of you folks may be getting a bum steer.

EDITOR, RECORD - HERALD:

This is largely directed to the people of the extreme northern, southern, eastern and western parts of our county.

Most of us in Fayette County certainly know by this time that the State of Ohio intends for Fayette County and every other county to have a Citizens Committee to study the school needs of organization and reorganization.

We are not referring to the committee of two years ago, which had to be disbanded because it did not represent all the school districts in Fayette County, — but, to the new committee which will be formed in Fayette County.

The citizens of the outer areas of Fayette County have specific school problems not faced by the center area.

A new Citizens Committee and qualified survey group will investigate and consider our problems and have understanding for these problems.

Such a survey will understand and recognize the northwestern part of the county's interest in a high school in that area, the Jeffersonville High School. It will consider the important question of transportation time required to move children from this area to a high school located near Washington C. H.

It will consider possible ways to strengthen and enlarge the student body of this school, as an alternative to one single high school.

It will recognize that while four small high schools and one city high school in Fayette County are too many for efficient and effective education, — one high school may not be enough, if other good and valid conditions are considered.

Such a survey would also determine the wishes of those residing in the other outer areas of Fayette County. Would they prefer transportation to a central high school or assignment to nearer existing high schools?

This survey would also investigate possible improvement in junior high school programs, to afford better education for our children.

It would take into consideration, the possibility that the Fayette County high school programs worked out, would also be able to offer up to two years of college right here at home.

The colleges and universities say that such a development must come, if the boys and girls of tomorrow are to have an opportunity for higher education.

It would investigate for areas of improvement in the elementary school operation.

It would examine carefully, the advantages of unity and cooperation between the city and rural school operations.

It would not arbitrarily say one high school for all rural Fayette County, or one high school for the combined city and county, — and disregard all the problems such centralization would impose on many individuals and families, and even on areas of the county.

It would consider the advantages and disadvantages of one district or more than one school district for the entire county.

It would meet with the people to get their reactions before it set up a program. It would submit its findings to the people, — all of them, — for their approval.

Its responsibility would be to the people, not to any school board or any school administrator. By law, it must be independent of school employees, board members or school empires.

The present Miami Trace school program and building proposal would, if passed, create more serious problems than it solved.

It would commit millions of dollars of tax money and the future education of our children to plans, facilities and ideas which could be tremendously harmful to the best interest of our community.

But, a new Citizens Committee, a thorough, unbiased, impartial and expert investigation and honest, sincere cooperation between rural and city areas could give us the educational facilities our children are entitled to, with the greatest economy for our families which must pay the taxes, — and a school organization responsive to the legitimate desires and needs of the individual rather than to power, territory or money.

EDITOR, RECORD - HERALD:

A few days from now we will be privileged to vote on some important issues. In the past few months these issues have been widely discussed both pro and con. From these discussions I have accumulated a few items as they appear to me.

Item 1. For the past few years Fayette County has existed at a modest tax rate, a modest standard of living and outside toilets at the elementary schools.

Item 2. The people of Union and Green townships asked for and were given additions to and toilets in their elementary school buildings.

Item 3. Last year the Miami Trace Local School District proposed a school building program which was defeated by some of the voters of Union Township who apparently wanted to be annexed into Washington C. H. first. They later had a change of mind after election day.

Item 4. This year the Miami Trace local board, now composed of all the county outside Washington C. H., is proposing another and more comprehensive school improvement program.

Item 5. This program has met with vigorous opposition but little constructive help has been volunteered.

Certainly no program will be a perfect solution. The problems have been carefully thought out by those whom we elected to represent us and this is their solution. There might well be better solutions and no one person or group of people can say at this time what is best. Nor will they know any better next year or the year following that. The problem has been a long time in the making and needs a solution yesterday.

The alternatives are fairly clear-cut We can vote for the bond issue and have new and better schools in two years at a cost on par with other neighborhoods or we can defeat the bond issue, continuing the present conditions and watch them get worse. As some have suggested we can even sit back and wait for the government to give us back some of our federal taxes after taking out an appropriate amount for overhead and then making very clear how we are to spend the rest, for there is always a string attached.

In any event, whether the issues are passed or defeated, we must give credit to those who have worked so tirelessly. The opponents of the bill have spared no expense and effort in bringing their views before the eyes and ears of the public. In this they are to be commended for next to sincerity of purpose, courage of convictions is admirable. While not so generously endowed financially the individual members of the school board are to be commended for their unselfish devotion to a task which has had little reward. They have given of their personal time to a much greater extent than the people of Fayette County have a right to.

We have had both sides and now we must vote for certainly we cannot criticize if we do not exercise our duty at the polls and win or lose, perhaps we will all be better people because of it.

Discrepancies Seen in New Sheppard Data

CLEVELAND (AP)—Assistant Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Saul S. Danaceau, who is campaigning for elevation to a judgeship, says there are some discrepancies in a story told by a young woman which led to the reopening of the Marilyn Sheppard murder case.

The informer has been brought to Cleveland and Danaceau said he would confront her with discrepancies in her story "and see what happens."

The assistant prosecutor, who took a statement from the Cleveland woman in a West Virginia institution last week, said he expected "to have this matter cleared up very soon."

Danaceau would not reveal the information he obtained which led to reopening of the murder investigation. Other police sources said, however, that the woman told Danacequ that Dr. Samuel Sheppard beat his wife to death after attacking a man he found in his home.

Cleveland detectives who worked on the case labeled the story as "fantastic."

Dr. Sheppard, 32, a Bay Village osteopath, was convicted of second-degree murder for the bludgeon-slaying of his wife on July 4, 1954, and is serving a life term in the Ohio Penitentiary.

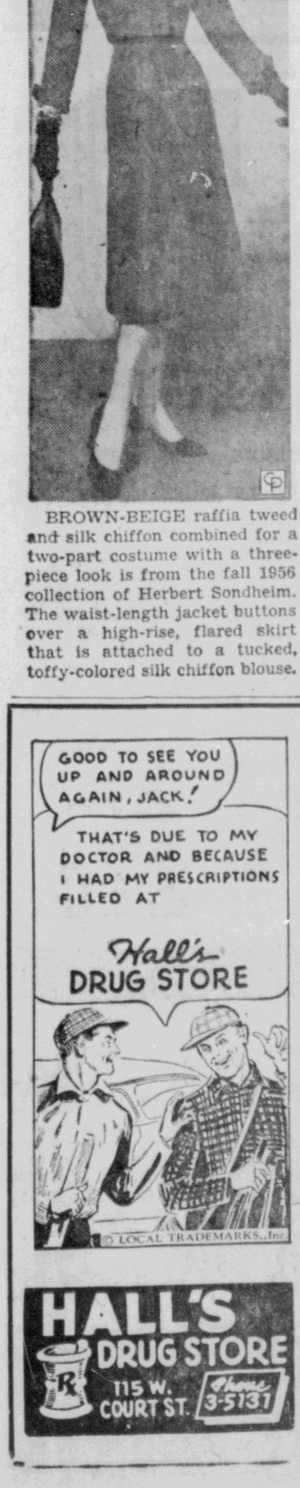

Danaceau's request for the Cleveland homicide bureau to check into the young woman's story was turned down Tuesday by Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze. The mayor said he could not permit police to be used for this purpose because of the manpower shortage and because Bay Village had not paid Cleveland $15,000 for the original investigation of the slaying.

Just an Oversight

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband's daughter, 16, of a previous marriage, recently came here for a visit from the West Coast. Fred hadn't seen her for almost six years; and after all this time Carol (I'll call her) had written to him, saying that she had a job parttime, and had saved enough money to make this trip expressly to see him.

During her stay in the city, my husband took her out to dinners, and I was introduced to her, and my little daughter liked her immediately. I had her to dinner once, and we spent a pleasant evening together.

Now comes the issue that bothers me: When Carol was leaving for the West Coast, my husband gave her one hundred dollars. Although we aren't in dire circumstances, still we have unmet needs. For instance, our living room isn't furnished yet. And my husband had to borrow the money to give to Carol.

His argument is that he hadn't contributed any money to Carol's support since the divorce, so he felt it was only right he should give her some money before she left. My argument is that since Carol's mother remarried and has a lovely home, Carol lacks nothing; whereas we could have used the money for necessities.

F. D.

DEAR F. D.: May I say first that Fred's daughter Carol ought to have been a guest in your household, during her stay in the city—if any kind of home accommodations could have been provided, emergency style. That was your obligation, in loyalty to him and courtesy to her. Yet it appears that she lodged elsewhere, and that your contact with her was very limited. However, this may have been her idea, or Fred's preference, for which you aren't to be chided.

Second, without quite knowing what you are angry about, you feel that Fred behaved rather irresponsibly, as your husband, in giving a substantial gift of borrowed money to Carol, who really doesn't need such largesse at present. Ho resent this gesture, as a disloyalty to you in the circumstances; and as a foolish handout besides.

Well, from a very narrow view, this may be true; but even so, it is entirely consistent with his past performance and character, isn't it? By his own admission, he contributed nothing to Carol's support after he was divorced from her mother—which is a pretty careless record, surely.

And for another thing, likely there is an element of filial defiance, of her mother and stepfather, implicit in Carol's sentimental journey, at her own expense, to see her dad. Sixteen is a rebellious age and, given the excuse of divorced parents, adolescents can be aggressively difficult and unfair, in rejecting the standby parent, in favor of the absent ne'er-do-well—as part of their drama of confused self-assertiveness, in the final phase of weaning.

So perhaps Carol was here on such a mission, and skillfully played upon Fred's sympathies, jockeying him into the position of vying with her mother, for top rating in her current scale of allegiance. Possibly she got him in the mood to refund her train fare, and thus in effect endorse her trip, that her mother may have opposed.

In any case, whatever the inside story, it seems destructive to haggle about what's done. It is more essential to the welfare of the marriage, for you and Fred to try to understand why things happened as they did. There must be this kind of sharing, if you are to be real partners.

A Real Stick-Up

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A real stick-up was reported by police by Mrs. Marie Powers, 30. She said a man approached her in a downtown parking lot, threatened her with a stick, and fled when she gave him $10.

Cincy University Lengthening Days

CINCINNATI (AP) — The University of Cincinnati plans to shift day classes starting next September from a nine-hour to a ten-hour schedule each day.

Dr. Walter C. Langsam, UC president, said the "improvement which this change will make, however, is only a stop-gap until additional building space becomes available." The change will shift classes from the present 8:30 a. m.-5:30 p. m. basis to 8 a. m.-6 p. m.

U. S. Unemployment Now 1,909,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment dropped this month to 1,909,000, the smallest total in nearly three years.

Reporting this, the Commerce Department also said 66,174,000 persons held jobs during October. This was 103,000 more than in September and a new record for the month, although 578,000 below the over-all peak reached last August.

The October total of jobless, a decrease of 89,000 from September, was the smallest since November 1953 when it stood at 1,699,000.

Farmer's Prices Drop again; Benson To Buy Excess Hogs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports that farm produce prices declined nearly 1 per cent between mid-September and mid-October. It was the fourth consecutive month that the general farm price level has dropped.

At the same time, Secretary Benson announced that the department is starting a pork buying program to bolster sagging prices of hogs.

Benson said the government will make $100 million available for the purchase of pork and lard during the heavy hog marketing season this fall and winter. The program is not without its political implications.

The mid - October prices were still 2.15 per cent above those of a year ago, but were still about 27 per cent below the record high reached in February 1951.

Farm prices as a whole normally decline during this period, reflecting increased supplies of farm products provided by the harvest season and the heavy marketing of livestock.

Lower prices for meat animals, corn, potatoes, poultry, eggs and cotton more than offset higher prices received for daily products, some vegetables, cottonseed and wheat.

Prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in family living and in production held unchanged between mid - September and mid-October.

The relationship between prices received by farmers and those paid by them put the farm price level at 82 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

The parity percentage was the same as a month ago as well as a year ago, but compared with the record high of 123 per cent set in October 1946.

Hurricane's Rain Volume Computed

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Enough rain to cover a quarter of the nation with an inch of water was dumped by Hurricane Flossy in its five-day passage across the Southeast last month.

That estimate was made by the Weather Bureau. The rain weighed 50 billion tons.

STENGEL FOR JUDGE

George W. (Casey) Stengel, candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals, in discussing the "judicial mind", says it is somewhat like a wag's definition of the "legal mind," viz, "if you think of one thing attached to another thing without thinking of the thing to which it is attached, then you have what we call a legal mind." In a more serious tone, Stengel says a judicial mind is merely the mind of a learned lawyer who will astutely decide each case according to the law of the land without regard to the racial, religious, political, economic or social status of the litigants or their attorneys.

Neighbors Are Friends in Need; Harvest Corn for Ailing Farmer

GOOD SAMARITANS — Fred Hayes and Carlson Dawson (top) were glad to help harves their neighbor's corn when they heard he was in the hospital. Carl Taylor (lower photo), who once needed help himself when he was ill, was happy that he could return the favor to one of his friends, farmer Chester Ratcliff.

LITTLE HELPER — When the ladies of the Maple Grove Methodist Church prepared lunch for the farmers working to help an ailing neighbor, 2½-year-old Stillman Starr ate his share, too. His dad helped with the harvest.

When Chester Ratliff went to Chillicothe Hospital for an operation, his neighbors decided that they weren't going to stand by and watch Ratliff's 82 acres of corn rot away.

So they got together Wednesday and harvested the entire crop.

Charles Morgan, who owns an adjoining farm on Route 35 near the Ross County line, helped organize the project which was undertaken by some 50 members of farm families in the surrounding community. More than 20 women, all members of the Maple Grove Methodist Church, pitched in and prepared a lunch for the men which consisted of over 20 separate courses. Mrs. Ralph Garrison helped organize the cooking activities.

• • •

AS MANY as eight picking machines were working at one time.

Driving one of the pickers was Carl Taylor, who owns a farm across the road. Taylor knows what it's like to get help when it's needed. Five years ago he was stricken with polio and many of these same farmers came to his aid, and cared for his crops while he convalesced. Now he had the chance to return the favor.

The men worked hard as the skies became gloomy. They didn't mind the work. They were glad they could help.

Panty Raid Ends Coed-Sparked Frolic

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Halloween fun turned into a panty raid at Montana University Wednesday.

An eyewitness said it all started when women students from the residence halls decided to run through Craig Hall and other men's dormitories.

The men then decided to run through the women's residence halls. Some of them turned it into a panty raid, emerging from the buildings waving their trophies.

Your Vote Packs Plenty of Power

By JERRY KLEIN
(Central Press Association)

No one is going to push you to the polls at gunpoint on Nov. 6. However, the day may be fast coming when you won't dare not vote because you'd be breaking the law. The American Assn. for Public Opinion Research has said that before many more presidential elections have gone by, voting will be compulsory in the United States.

That's not so far-fetched as it may seem. Failure to vote has been against the law for some time in other parts of the world. In Australia, for example, unless a citizen has a good excuse, he is fined $5 for failing to appear at the polls on election day.

Many Americans who don't vote come Nov. 6 will claim it doesn't really matter because their one vote is meaningless among the many millions cast. Actually, however, because of the way American elections are conducted, a comparative handful of votes often has shaped United States— and therefore the world's— political history. In fact, even a President once was elected by a single vote!

This happened in 1801 when Aaron Burr and Thomas Jefferson each received 73 electoral votes. Because neither candidate had a majority, the choice was given to the House of Representatives. There, Jefferson was elected by just one vote.

• • •

THE PRESIDENCY has swung on relatively few votes several times. And many a governor, senator and representative has been elected by a margin so narrow the result could have turned the other way by less than one vote in each election precinct!

In the presidential election of 1948, for example, President Truman won the electoral votes of Ohio and California by only about one vote per precinct. Ohio's 9,247 precincts gave him a plurality of only 7,107 votes. In California's 16,802 voting precincts, the President won by only 17,865 votes.

These one-vote-per-precinct victories gave Mr. Truman the states' 50 electoral votes— and the election. If he had lost them, neither he nor Thomas Dewey would have won an electoral majority. The whole election would have been thrown to the House of Representatives for a decision — with perhaps a different result.

In 1916 Woodrow Wilson was re-elected President by winning the electoral votes of California. There were 5,000 precincts in the state then, but Wilson won by only 3,806 votes — far less than one ballot per precinct.

• • •

AGAIN IN 1884, New York's electoral votes gave the presidency to Grover Cleveland instead of to James G. Blaine. Yet Cleveland's margin in the Empire State was only 1,149 votes out of a total of 1,125,159.

In the New York State Legislature elections of 1942, William Pheiffer was defeated by 80 votes out of 110 precincts. A total of 37,000 ballots was cast.

In 1948, Judge Joseph Mullen was defeated for New York County Surrogate by 1,150 ballots out of 1,000 voting precincts. A total of 750,000 ballots was cast in this election.

• • •

ONLY ONE-THIRD of a vote per precinct elected G. Mennen Williams governor of Michigan in 1950. His edge was 1,154 votes out of 1,880,000.

America also has had a governor who held office for two years after an election—although he was not even a candidate in that election and didn't receive a single vote!

Morgan Bulkeley, a Republican, who governed Connecticut from 1888 to 1893, was not a candidate for re-election in 1891, but none of the candidates managed to get a majority, so Bulkeley held on to his office.

According to law, the Connecticut legislature was supposed to decide on a governor to replace Bulkeley, but it couldn't agree, either. So Bulkeley stayed in office another two years, until 1893—despite opposition from all parties, including his own!

• • •

THE LEGISLATURE wouldn't cooperate with him, so during all these many months, no new laws, appointments or appropriations were made. Bulkeley financed the state government from his own pocket until 1893 when Connecticut voters elected Luzon Morris, a Democrat, as governor.

So you see that whether you're a Democrat or Republican, that one vote of yours can be mighty important. Cast it!

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's attempt to balance the Middle East picture — by criticizing the British, the French, the Israelis and the Egyptians — put a spotlight on this country's critical dilemma.

But it is only part of the problem unleashed by the British-French attack on Egypt.

Top government officials are privately very angry at the British and French. But the United States needs its two allies, as they need the United States, for defense against Russia.

In his speech to the nation Wednesday night Eisenhower tried to keep the way smooth for retaining the alliance. He chided the British and French for what they did. But he did not speak harshly of them.

And, while criticizing this country's friends, he also blamed Egyptian President Nasser for aggravating them.

But the Arabs have ears too. No Arab can ever be expected to forget the attack on Egypt this week by the French and British, who acted like the colonial powers which they were and are.

Already the Russians are accusing the United States of being in cahoots with the British, French and Israelis in the attack on Egypt.

Unless they can be convinced the United States does not condone the attack, the people of the Middle East will have no reason ever to trust a Western power again.

The people of Africa and Asia, newly freed from colonialism, will be watching the United States also.

This country attempted in the U.N. Security Council to block the French-British attack this week. The French and British blocked the United States with a veto. Now the case goes to the U.N. General Assembly.

What the United States does there to get U.N. action of some kind against the British and French will be under scrutiny everywhere. Yet, if the United States acts too strongly, it may wreck its alliance with Britain and France.

The people of Asia and Africa have reason to distrust the British and French from now on. It's not difficult for them to see themselves someday in the present position of Egypt.

But if they lose faith in the United States, they will have no powerful ally to turn to except Russia. The Arabs may well turn to Russia now no matter what the United States does.

Russian penetration and domination of the Middle East wouldn't have to happen overnight. The Russians have time.

This is all based on the assumption that Russia will not get actively into the conflict now. If that happened, there'd be a world war.

But more than all that is involved:

By their determination to go ahead with their attack on Egypt, no matter what the U.N. thought, the French and British have dealt that organization a blow from which it may not recover.

Further, it is possible vengeful Arabs will cut the Middle East oil lines, shutting off Europe's supply and forcing it to turn to the United States for help. That might mean rationing in this country.

One thing is certain: the French and British have done terrible damage to the efforts of the West to woo the Asians and Africans and make Russia look like the only big power to be feared.

Verdict Upset In Damage Case

Action Remanded For New Trial

A jury's verdict in favor of Loren E. Torbett, Route 4, in Geraldine M. Smith's suit for $15,000 damages for personal injuries sustained when she was struck by Torbett's automobile, has been reversed by the Court of Appeals and remanded back to the Common Pleas Court here for retrial.

The court noted in its decision on her appeal that she was walking on the east side of Route 35 toward her home about a mile south of Washington C. H. when she was hit by Torbett's car, aso headed south, as it was passing another car headed in the same direction. The accident occurred about 2 a. m. on Dec. 30, 1950.

She had charged Torbett with negligence; failure to have his car under control; failure to stop, check his speed or divert his course.

Torbett claimed negligence on her part because, although there was a useable path along the highway, she was walking on the traveled portion, allegedly without exercising ordinary care for her own safety.

THE CONTROVERSY centered on the questions of the place where she was struck and of assured distance ahead. She claimed that at all times, for a distance of 225 feet before she was struck, she had been walking on the berm. Torbett testified that as he passed the car ahead, she was but three feet in front of him and four feet to the right of the east edge of the berm when he first saw her.

In reversing and remanding the cause, the Court of Appeals cited five errors in Judge John P. Case's charge to the jury.

However, the decision said "the court (Judge Case) gave a complete charge. . . .exceptionally comprehensive and, in the main, correct."

The case was tried in Common Pleas Court here March 19 and 20 of this year and the appeal was filed May 16.

Stevenson Presses Theme: Ike Policies Breeding War

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson will be heard tonight in a nationwide television-radio talk on his theme that Eisenhower administration policies "have brought the whole world to the brink of war."

The Democratic standard-bearer called off political talks scheduled for Syracuse and Rochester, N. Y., but planned to go ahead with a speech set for 9:30 p. m. at a rally in Buffalo.

The hostilities in Egypt virtually crowded out all other issues in Stevenson's strategy as he entered the final stage of a campaign as he seized the initiative on the "peace issue."

Stevenson's campaign staff awaited word from the major television and radio networks on his request for free time to reply to President Eisenhower's 15-minute talk Wednesday night on the crisis in the Middle East. Eisenhower spoke from Washington at 7 p. m. (EST) and Stevenson would like to go on the air at approximately the same time.

* * *

THE ANNOUNCEMENT indicated that Stevenson will make his TV reply to Eisenhower even if the Democratic party should have to pay for the time.

Wednesday night he asked a tumultuous audience in Pittsburgh's Hunt Armory to support "efforts to end the war between Egypt and Israel" but said "I cannot promise to support or respect a foreign policy that has bluffed and blundered the United States into a shattering diplomatic disaster."

"It has brought the whole world to the brink of another war that Mr. Dulles (secretary of state) may not have planned but which he did a lot to cause," he said.

An audience which fire department officials estimated at 12,500 gave him a roaring reception.

He hammered away at Republican foreign policy in rallies in New York City during a day in which a steady downpour of rain cut down his street crowds and forced him to do his speaking indoors in halls of limited capacity.

In Boston, Sen. Estes Kefauver charged that "the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy has brought us to the brink of war for the fifth time in four years."

The vice-presidential candidate contended that administration policies are largely responsible for Middle East fighting and what he termed the breakdown of understandings with Britain and France.

He said Eisenhower's television and radio report on foreign affairs "revealed for all the world to see the deterioration of American influence in the world."

He said the United States, once the leader of the free world, now finds itself without friends, its "counsel disdained," and is "left standing flatfooted and open mouthed while world events pass us by."

to consider "will not at all deal with private industry, but will deal with public utilities."

"We think," Flohr said at the conference, "an effort should be made to provide emergency service with local supervisory personnel insofar as possible. If that fails we won't be hesitant to ask for the National Guard."

Robert Moulton, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, said there will be a public hearing on whether the company should be ordered to provide emergency service.

Col. George Mingle, superintendent of the state highway patrol, told the conference his investigations showed that "if outside people hadn't been manning the exchanges, there wouldn't have been any disturbances."

Mingle apparently was referring to union statements that the company had brought in employes of General Telephone Co. of Ohio to work the struck exchanges. General Telephone is Ohio Consolidated's parent company.

Union- management negotiations are scheduled to resume Friday in Cleveland. Of 16 issues which have deadlocked the talks, four are considered most serious: union shop, supervisors as union members, a "no strike" clause and arbitration of grievances.

Meter Reader Facing Death Trial in Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 43-year-old water meter reader goes on trial here today on a charge that he stabbed an attractive 34-year-old Cincinnati socialite to death in her swank home last April 11.

It is a case which for 45 days seemed to have been a "perfect crime."

There was no known motive for the slaying of Mrs. Audrey Evers Pugh. She had no enemies that police could find. Numerous suspects were questioned and then on May 26 came the announcement from police that:

"The meter reader did it."

The meter reader, Robert V. Lyons, had been questioned previously in the case and released.

Police said Lyons admitted the slaying and said he did it after Mrs. Pugh reprimanded him for coming to the wrong door of her home. His statement quoted her as saying, "Don't make a fool of yourself."

His statement said he feared she might make a report to the city waterworks department where he had worked for 20 years and that he followed her into the kitchen for an explanation. The statement quoted Lyons as saying Mrs. Pugh picked up a knife and then slapped him and that he took the knife away from her and stabbed her.

Lyons since has repudiated the alleged confession and it is expected to be one of the main points of issue in the trial.

Selection of the jury also may be a problem since the case had been widely publicized.

As many as 15,000 eggs may be laid by the American Toad in two spiral tubes of jelly, but less than one tadpole in 100 will live to become adult.

Awards Made At Good Will Grange Session

Madison Mills Group Convenes Wednesday Night

Awards by the Ohio State Grange were presented to two members of the Good Will Grange and recognition was given to another at Wednesday night's meeting in the Grange Hall at Madison Mills.

The awards were presented by the new county deputy, Roscoe Whiteside, to Mrs. Gloria Dale Smith for her outstanding work as secretary, and to Mrs. Leona Butcher, for the fine lecture program that had been given under her direction.

Hershel Pendleton, now starting his second term as master of the Good Will Grange, was given recognition for services.

* * *

A $10 contribution to the Community Chest and a donation to the Heinbuch Memorial Foundation for the Magnetic Spring Polio Center were voted during the business session.

The Heinbuch Memorial Foundation, it was explained, is to be a fund of at least $30,000, income from which would go toward the operating expenses of the Magnetic Springs Center.

The enrollment of the Good Will Juvenile Grange was brought up to 20 when the obligations were administered to four new members, and Mrs. Whiteside, the deputy matron, presented the charter to the budding juvenile auxiliary of the regular adult organization.

Deputy Whiteside, who was formally installed in his new position at the state Grange convention last week, reported on the proceedings of the convention, outlining the resolutions that had been adopted by the state organization and explaining some of the other actions taken.

* * *

MRS. MADGE WINTER, Mrs. Minnie Smith and Mrs. Roy Pfeifer, members of Fayette Grange, were guests at the meeting and spoke briefly on the ideals and purposes of the Grange.

Mrs. Fred Van Schoik showed color slides of pictures taken during a summer vacation in Canada.

On the refreshments committee, which served cider and doughnuts at the close of the meeting, were Mr. and Mrs. Freddie LeBeau, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Melvin and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schlichter.

Pork Featured In Nation's Food Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housewives with a good memory for bargains may think the calendar has been turned back a year when the visit their favorite meat counters this week-end.

The reason is that pork will be featured, just as it was a year ago when pig products were almost a glut on the market. Government experts say the supply of porkers being marketed will be seasonally heavy in late November and early December, although somewhat below 1955 levels.

Pork loins, pork chops and roast pork all are scheduled for feature billing. Prices are down from 2 to 10 cents in most areas.

Ham, lamb and chicken also will be getting a big play from bargain hunters. Beef, for the most part, was still a bit high in most places.

Vegetable and fruit counters generally are expected to show little change from last week.

Cabbage, cauliflower and squash all are at the top of the bargain list. In sections where nearby crops still are available, onions, potatoes and beets also are extremely attractive in price.

Good buys also are reported for brussel sprouts, carrots, celery, endive and escarole.

Firms To Merge

COLUMBUS (AP)—Plans for the merger of the Mayflower Insurance Co. with the Buckeye Union Insurance Companies were announced Wednesday by U. S. Sen. John W. Bricker and Frederick E. Jones, respective presidents of the two companies.

It is a case which for 45 days seemed to have been a "perfect crime."

There was no known motive for the slaying of Mrs. Audrey Evers Pugh. She had no enemies that police could find. Numerous suspects were questioned and then on May 26 came the announcement from police that:

"The meter reader did it."

The meter reader, Robert V. Lyons, had been questioned previously in the case and released.

Police said Lyons admitted the slaying and said he did it after Mrs. Pugh reprimanded him for coming to the wrong door of her home. His statement quoted her as saying, "Don't make a fool of yourself."

His statement said he feared she might make a report to the city waterworks department where he had worked for 20 years and that he followed her into the kitchen for an explanation. The statement quoted Lyons as saying Mrs. Pugh picked up a knife and then slapped him and that he took the knife away from her and stabbed her.

Lyons since has repudiated the alleged confession and it is expected to be one of the main points of issue in the trial.

Selection of the jury also may be a problem since the case had been widely publicized.

Awards Made At Good Will Grange Session

Madison Mills Group Convenes Wednesday Night

Awards by the Ohio State Grange were presented to two members of the Good Will Grange and recognition was given to another at Wednesday night's meeting in the Grange Hall at Madison Mills.

The awards were presented by the new county deputy, Roscoe Whiteside, to Mrs. Gloria Dale Smith for her outstanding work as secretary, and to Mrs. Leona Butcher, for the fine lecture program that had been given under her direction.

Hershel Pendleton, now starting his second term as master of the Good Will Grange, was given recognition for services.

A $10 contribution to the Community Chest and a donation to the Heinbuch Memorial Foundation for the Magnetic Spring Polio Center were voted during the business session.

The Heinbuch Memorial Foundation, it was explained, is to be a fund of at least $30,000, income from which would go toward the operating expenses of the Magnetic Springs Center.

The enrollment of the Good Will Juvenile Grange was brought up to 20 when the obligations were administered to four new members, and Mrs. Whiteside, the deputy matron, presented the charter to the budding juvenile auxiliary of the regular adult organization.

Deputy Whiteside, who was formally installed in his new position at the state Grange convention last week, reported on the proceedings of the convention, outlining the resolutions that had been adopted by the state organization and explaining some of the other actions taken.

• • •

MRS. MADGE WINTER, Mrs. Minnie Smith and Mrs. Roy Pfeifer, members of Fayette Grange, were guests at the meeting and spoke briefly on the ideals and purposes of the Grange.

Mrs. Fred Van Schoik showed color slides of pictures taken during a summer vacation in Canada.

On the refreshments committee, which served cider and doughnuts at the close of the meeting, were Mr. and Mrs. Freddie LeBeau, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Melvin and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schlichter.

Pork Featured In Nation's Food Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housewives with a good memory for bargains may think the calendar has been turned back a year when the visit their favorite meat counters this week-end.

The reason is that pork will be featured, just as it was a year ago when pig products were almost a glut on the market. Government experts say the supply of porkers being marketed will be seasonally heavy in late November and early December, although somewhat below 1955 levels.

Pork loins, pork chops and roast pork all are scheduled for feature billing. Prices are down from 2 to 10 cents in most areas.

Ham, lamb and chicken also will be getting a big play from bargain hunters. Beef, for the most part, was still a bit high in most places.

Vegetable and fruit counters generally are expected to show little change from last week.

Cabbage, cauliflower and squash all are at the top of the bargain list. In sections where nearby crops still are available, onions, potatoes and beets also also are extremely attractive in price.

Good buys also are reported for brussel sprouts, carrots, celery, endive and escarole.

Some varieties of apples are abundant, and therefore cheap, but the popular eating types are reported too expensive to be considered agood bargain.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Plans for the merger of the Mayflower Insurance Co. with the Buckeye Union Insurance Companies were announced Wednesday by U. S. Sen. John W. Bricker and Frederick E. Jones, respective presidents of the two companies.

Mid-East Fight Reflected In Ohio Political Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Israel - Egypt fracas has landed smack in the middle of Ohio's political campaigning.

It's the Democrats who are having the most to say about the flare-up in the Middle East. They are mocking the Republican's slogan of "Peace and Prosperity."

The voice of the United States, which a few years ago thundered, has been relegated to the side," declared Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) in Toledo Wednesday night where he also boosted the gubernatorial candidacy of Michael V. DiSalle.

"The Republicans cried, 'Peace, peace,' but there is no peace," Kennedy told a crowd estimated at 4,000. "We are split from our traditional allies, Britain, France and Israel, and find ourselves trying to choose between them and Col. Nasser and his allies. It is due to this administration's unwarranted complacency."

DiSalle joined in the hooting of the GOP slogan, commenting wryly: 'Peace and prosperity—peace in the Middle East and prosperity in the Middle West."

The latter phrase referred to what DiSalle termed discontent among midwestern farmers over a squeeze between rising costs and decreasing income.

DiSalle's opponent, Republican C. William O'Neill, took his campaign to Warren today and discussed state problems. Speaking of the highway problem in that area, he said in a prepared text:

"It is impossible today to drive from this area to the larger population centers in the central and southern parts of the state by a reasonably direct route without using some roads that are less than 60 per cent adequate.

"We must have major north-south highways so that the commerce of this area, as well as the ordinary motorist, can have easy and safe access to the rest of the state."

And a group of Democratic members of the State Legislature continued to needle O'Neill's record in the Legislature. The group said in statement:

"The Republican candidate, when he was minority leader of the House of Representatives in the 98th General Assembly, many times took the floor to speak about economy in government and how he favored holding down costs.

"That was minority leader O'Neill.

"When the same Mr. O'Neill was elected attorney general, he took a different view of finances. When the appropriations for the attorney general's office came before the General Assembly, this same 'economist' came before the finance committee and asked a huge additional appropriation for the operation of the attorney general's office.

"This doesn't seem to be consistent on the part of this self-styled champion of economy."

Social Security Covers New List Of Occupations

Professional Men Now Participating in Federal Benefits

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is one of a series prepared by Leonard S. Garrard, field representative for the Social Security Administration in Fayette County. Garrard's home office is in Columbus. The first article in the series appeared Tuesday.

By LEONARD S. GARRARD

In the first article of this series I outlined the most important changes in the old - age and survivors insurance program brought about by the 1956 amendments to the social security law. Today, I shall discuss the kinds of work which are brought under social security for the first time as of Jan. 1, 1956.

For taxable years after 1955, persons who work for themselves—alone or in partnership — as lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, osteopaths, and optometrists, started building old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families on the same basis as self-employed persons previously covered by the law.

It is estimated that about 200,000 professional people are affected by this change in the social security law.

* * *

LAWYERS make up the largest number of these newly - covered self - employed professionals. As long ago as 1948, it was estimated that 140,000 out of the probably 170,000 lawyers in the United States were self - employed.

Most of them are already familiar with the insurance provisions of social security. They have had occasion to observe and study it in connection with the affairs of their clients. Moreover, because of the close relationship between legal practice and fields such as business management, real estate, finance, and politics, many lawyers had moved into other lines of work covered by social security before 1956.

A great many of them came under social security as employes of other lawyers; others acquired military wage credits under social security during active service with the Armed Forces.

* * *

FACT, it is estimated that at least 30 per cent of all presently self-employed lawyers, at one time or another, have accumulated some earnings credits under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

To these lawyers, in particular, the extension of coverage is of marked importance. The social security credits they have built up would have steadily declined in benefit value in the years ahead; in the case of many young lawyers, they would eventually have disappeared altogether.

* * *

ALSO BROUGHT under social security as of Jan. 1, 1956, are an estimated 78,000 dentists actively engaged in private practice. This protection should be of special importance to a young dentist who is head of a family. Because of the length of time required to complete his professional training, his earning capacity in many cases does not commence as early in life as that of the average non-professional individual.

Moreover, in starting his practice, he must furnish his office with expensive equipment and thereafter go through a period of low income before he is able to realize a reasonable return from his practice.

If he has a wife and family, he is in need of the survivorship protection social security affords to a young widow and minor children during those years.

In my next article I shall explain the provision in the amended law which permits self - employed professionals and others brought under social security this year to disregard their years of non-coverage after 1950 in acquiring an insured status.

Ninth Grader Told To Wait for Reply

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) says he's sorry, but ninth-grader Lynda Hambrick will just have to wait a week for an answer to a question she poses in a letter to him.

"Lack of a heavy-duty crystal ball," he wrote, makes it necessary for me to forego responding to your request until Nov. 7."

Miss Hambrick had written:

"Would you please send all election information, including which way your state will vote, for a ninth grade scrapbook that I'm making."

Mid-East Fight Reflected In Ohio Political Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Israel - Egypt fracas has landed smack in the middle of Ohio's political campaigning.

It's the Democrats who are having the most to say about the flare-up in the Middle East. They are mocking the Republican's slogan of "Peace and Prosperity."

The voice of the United States, which a few years ago thundered, has been relegated to the side," declared Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) in Toledo Wednesday night where he also boosted the gubernatorial candidacy of Michael V. DiSalle.

"The Republicans cried, 'Peace, peace,' but there is no peace," Kennedy told a crowd estimated at 4,000. "We are split from our traditional allies, Britain, France and Israel, and find ourselves trying to choose between them and Col. Nasser and his allies. It is due to this administration's unwarranted complacency."

DiSalle joined in the hooting of the GOP slogan, commenting wryly: 'Peace and prosperity—peace in the Middle East and prosperity in the Middle West."

The latter phrase referred to what DiSalle termed discontent among midwestern farmers over a squeeze between rising costs and decreasing income.

DiSalle's opponent, Republican C. William O'Neill, took his campaign to Warren today and discussed state problems. Speaking of the highway problem in that area, he said in a prepared text:

"It is impossible today to drive from this area to the larger population centers in the central and southern parts of the state by a reasonably direct route without using some roads that are less than 60 per cent adequate.

"We must have major north-south highways so that the commerce of this area, as well as the ordinary motorist, can have easy and safe access to the rest of the state."

And a group of Democratic members of the State Legislature continued to needle O'Neill's record in the Legislature. The group said in statement:

"The Republican candidate, when he was minority leader of the House of Representatives in the 98th General Assembly, many times took the floor to speak about economy in government and how he favored holding down costs.

"That was minority leader O'Neill.

"When the same Mr. O'Neill was elected attorney general, he took a different view of finances. When the appropriations for the attorney general's office came before the General Assembly, this same 'economist' came before the finance committee and asked a huge additional appropriation for the operation of the attorney general's office.

"This doesn't seem to be consistent on the part of this self-styled champion of economy."

Social Security Covers New List Of Occupations

Professional Men Now Participating in Federal Benefits

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is one of a series prepared by Leonard S. Garrard, field represenative for the Social Security Administration in Fayette County. Garrard's home office is in Columbus. The first article in the series appeared Tuesday.

By LEONARD S. GARRARD

In the first article of this series I outlined the most important changes in the old - age and survivors insurance program brought about by the 1956 amendments to the social security law. Today, I shall discuss the kinds of work which are brought under social security for the first time as of Jan. 1, 1956.

For taxable years after 1955, persons who work for themselves—alone or in partnership — as lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, osteopaths, and optometrists, started building old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families on the same basis as self-employed persons previously covered by the law.

It is estimated that about 200,000 professional people are affected by this change in the social security law.

* * *

LAWYERS make up the largest number of these newly - covered self - employed professionals. As long ago as 1948, it was estimated that 140,000 out of the probably 170,000 lawyers in the United States were self - employed.

Most of them are already familiar with the insurance provisions of social security. They have had occasion to observe and study it in connection with the affairs of their clients. Moreover, because of the close relationship between legal practice and fields such as business management, real estate, finance, and politics, many lawyers had moved into other lines of work covered by social security before 1956.

A great many of them came under social security as employes of other lawyers; others acquired military wage credits under social security during active service with the Armed Forces.

* * *

FACT, it is estimated that at least 30 per cent of all presently self-employed lawyers, at one time or another, have accumulated some earnings credits under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

To these lawyers, in particular, the extension of coverage is of marked importance. The social security credits they have built up would have steadily declined in benefit value in the years ahead; in the case of many young lawyers, they would eventually have disappeared altogether.

* * *

ALSO BROUGHT under social security as of Jan. 1, 1956, are an estimated 78,000 dentists actively engaged in private practice. This protection should be of special importance to a young dentist who is head of a family. Because of the length of time required to complete his professional training, his earning capacity in many cases does not commence as early in life as that of the average non-professional individual.

Moreover, in starting his practice, he must furnish his office with expensive equipment and thereafter go through a period of low income before he is able to realize a reasonable return from his practice.

If he has a wife and family, he is in need of the survivorship protection social security affords to a young widow and minor children during those years.

In my next article I shall explain the provision in the amended law which permits self - employed professionals and others brought under social security this year to disregard their years of non-coverage after 1950 in acquiring an insured status.

Ninth Grader Told To Wait for Reply

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) says he's sorry, but ninth-grader Lynda Hambrick will just have to wait a week for an answer to a question she poses in a letter to him.

"Lack of a heavy-duty crystal ball," he wrote, makes it necessary for me to forego responding to your request until Nov. 7."

Miss Hambrick had written:

"Would you please send all election information, including which way your state will vote, for a ninth grade scrapbook that I'm making."

Carveyors and Moving Sidewalks May Solve Cities' Traffic Woes

By LEONARD J. SNYDER
(Central Press Association)

WASHINGTON — Government transit experts in the nation's capital realize that vision and planning are the prerequisites for any attempt to ward off the certainties of tomorrow's city - wide traffic snarls. That's why they, like transit specialists in other cities across the country, are giving daily thought to the problem of more cars and how to cope with them.

While very few major cities have gone beyond the planning stage, it seems likely that sweeping mass transit changes actually will be underway in forward - looking metropolitan areas within the next few years.

In this federal city $400,000 has been set aside to study tomorrow's mass transportation requirements. A full - scale report for streamlining Washington's growing traffic problem will be made by the National Planning commission by October, 1957.

The commission now is engaged in a study of all practical mass transit devices, including moving sidewalks to help pedestrians get about without having to resort to automobiles or buses.

* * *

MOVING sidewalks or "carveyors" in underground tubes may seem as futurist as space travel when compared to bus travel in downtown Washington today. The same may be said about other major cities, also.

The moving sidewalk is a horizontal and endless belt moving over a flat surface at about 1½ miles an hour, or somewhat less than normal walking speed.

The carveyor system permits a person first to step onto a moving sidewalk and then into a passenger car somewhat larger than that carried by an amusement park ferris wheel.

* * *

AS THE passenger car leaves the loading platform it picks up speed and moves along a high-speed belt until it slows down before reaching the next station. The system was developed by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, and the Stephens-Adams on Manufacturing Company of Aurora, Ill.

Last year the first of the moving roads of rubber for pedestrians was opened in the underground station of the Hudson and Manhattan railroad in Jersey City, N. J. It replaced a long, 10-degree, concrete ramp known to commuters as Cardiac alley.

* * *

ANOTHER speedwalk has been installed at the Sam Houston coliseum in Houston, Tex. The first to span a pedestrian bridge, it can carry 15,000 people an hour from parking areas across a bayou into the auditorium.

Texans anticipate yet another rolling ramp at the Dallas airport. It will be twice as long as the Houston and Jersey City conveyors combined. A similar one is being built at the Philadelphia airport to help move passengers and baggage from the parking lot to terminal to planes.

Moving sidewalks are not new. In 1893, a year before the "Sidewalks of New York" was written, a model made of linked wood slats was demonstrated by the World's Columbian exposition in Chicago. New York, which turned down one moving sidewalk plan, still is thinking about a continuous conveyor with passenger seats to replace the Grand Central - Times Square subway shuttle.

The National Geographic society points out that San Franciscans long ago toyed with a plan for an elevated belt that would run above Market Street and deposit passengers directly at the second floor of stores.

* * *

TWO - TIERED sidewalks are not new, either. In the city of Chester in Wales the overhanging roofs of ground - floor buildings in four streets form a continuous arcade for shops and homes fronting on the second story.

"Moving" sidewalks have not been a blessing always, however. In Portugal, Brazil, and other places where mosaic tiles are basic to decor, sidewalks appear to move, but they don't. "Rolling - Motion Square" (Rooie) in Lisbon, named for its undulating mosaic designs, proved so hazardous to traffic that some of it had to be removed.

The snake walks of Rio de Janeiro are famous the world over. For three miles along Copacabana drive the sidewalk pattern zigzags like two giant strips of rickrack.

Perhaps the most awesome walks in the world are those in the holy city of Meshed in Iran. They are on the site of an ancient Moslem graveyard, from which the graves long ago were removed. People still go their way on tombstones.

Crippled Kids Now Members Of Special 'Jet Pilot Squad'

As a result, Jimmy Mason's many spills no longer raise bumps on his head—and others in his school class are just about the happiest jet "pilots" anywhere.

A few weeks ago Jimmy tugged at his braces and began trying to walk. After several attempts, he managed to take a few steps at a time. But he always wound up by falling.

Jimmy was unable to raise his arms to protect himself, and each fall raised a new bump or marked him with a new cut.

Still, he kept trying.

The other day his school teacher at Samuel Gompers Memorial Clinic, Ted Hollingsworth, decided to equip Jimmy with a football helmet and face guard.

The rig protected Jimmy against head injuries, but, says Hollingsworth, it also "made him feel different" from the seven other crippled children in his class.

His classroom became a squadron room and all classwork was keyed to pilot activities.

Jimmy began wearing the helmet with pride, but another problem popped up. Hollingsworth detected a trace of envy on the part of the other pupils.

The teacher turned to nearby Luke Air Force Base for help and the Air Force came on the run.

Tuesday, Capt. Hugh M. Matheson of Los Angeles, and fellow officers of Luke's 3600th combat crew training group landed a helicopter on a playground at the clinic.

The airmen brought helmets for the seven other pupils, a collection of model planes and certificates activating the class as the "jet pilot squadron."

Matheson admitted he was "a pushover from the start" of the project. "You see," he said, "when I was a kid, a collapsed spine put me in a crippled children's hospital for a year. I guess I understand."

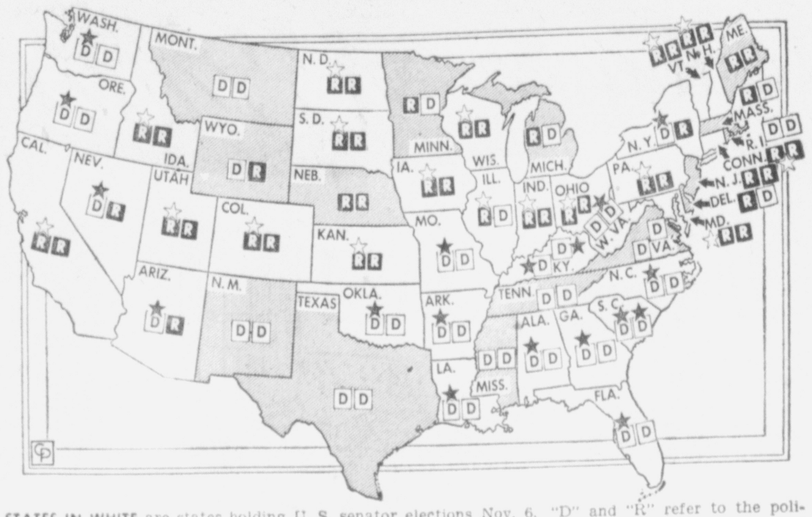

Public School Take Tops $136 Million

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's subsidy to public schools in the bookkeeping year which ended June 30 topped the $136 million mark, an increase of $8 million over the preceding year.

Over all, the subsidy amounted to $136,052,840 with payments of $104,136,806 direct to school districts, $22,453,209 to the teachers' retirement system, $3,714,610 to employes' retirement system, $2,275,100 for construction, $1,827,715 for rehabilitation and $1,654,400 for buses.

Of Ohio's 88 counties, 39 received more than $1 million.

STATES IN WHITE are states holding U. S. senator elections Nov. 6. "D" and "R" refer to the political party of the incumbent, and the star is over the incumbent who is up for re-election. Shaded states have no senatorial election this year. Kentucky and South Carolina elect two senators.

Campaign Cigars Just 'Too Good'

DALLAS (AP) — Judge Joe B. Brown lit up a cigar between cases in Dallas County Criminal Court. He leaned back, took a long draw and said:

"You know, this is the last of my campaign cigars.

"A fellow gave me five boxes of cigars with my name and campaign slogan on them. They were so good I never gave them out."

Ohioan Reelected Girl Scout Head

COLUMBUS (AP) — Mrs. L. S. Weaver of Maumee was reelected chairman of the Kenowva Region of Girl Scouts during the final session of the scouts' regional conference here.

Mrs. R. B. Drukker of Berea was elected regional vice chairman, and Mrs. John P. McClain of Bellaire, secretary.

Carveyors and Moving Sidewalks May Solve Cities' Traffic Woes

By LEONARD J. SNYDER
(Central Press Association)

WASHINGTON — Government transit experts in the nation's capital realize that vision and planning are the prerequisites for any attempt to ward off the certainties of tomorrow's city - wide traffic snarls. That's why they, like transit specialists in other cities across the country, are giving daily thought to the problem of more cars and how to cope with them.

While very few major cities have gone beyond the planning stage, it seems likely that sweeping mass transit changes actually will be underway in forward - looking metropolitan areas within the next few years.

In this federal city $400,000 has been set aside to study tomorrow's mass transportation requirements. A full - scale report for streamlining Washington's growing traffic problem will be made by the National Planning commission by October, 1957.

The commission now is engaged in a study of all practical mass transit devices, including moving sidewalks to help pedestrians get about without having to resort to automobiles or buses.

* * *

MOVING sidewalks or "carveyors" in underground tubes may seem as futurist as space travel when compared to bus travel in downtown Washington today. The same may be said about other major cities, also.

The moving sidewalk is a horizontal and endless belt moving over a flat surface at about 1½ miles an hour, or somewhat less than normal walking speed.

The carveyor system permits a person first to step onto a moving sidewalk and then into a passenger car somewhat larger than that carried by an amusement park ferris wheel.

* * *

AS THE passenger car leaves the loading platform it picks up speed and moves along a high-speed belt until it slows down before reaching the next station. The system was developed by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, and the Stephens-Adams o n Manufacturing Company of Aurora, Ill.

Last year the first of the moving roads of rubber for pedestrians was opened in the underground station of the Hudson and Manhattan railroad in Jersey City, N. J. It replaced a long, 10-degree, concrete ramp known to commuters as Cardiac alley.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Sunday, while in Dayton, I met Benjamin H. Gast, vice president of The National City Bank of Marion and manager of the Prospect branch of the institution at Prospect, near Marion, whom I have known for several years.

I was surprised and pleased to know that recently he was elected Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias Lodge in Ohio, and is planning to increase interest in the order in Ohio.

I gave him information about the institution with the lodge in Fayette County, and he indicated he will take steps to help build up the order here.

Originally there were five Knights of Pythias lodges in Fayette County, with a membership of several hundred.

Now there is just one Knights of Pythias lodge left in the county, and that is at Jeffersonville, where Sunflower Lodge continues to meet regularly and has a fair membership.

Some of the members of Sunflower Lodge transferred from Bloomingburg Lodge and Confidence Lodge of Washington C. H. when those two lodges folded up for lack of attendance and interest.

Years ago both Washington C. H. and Bloomingburg lodges had strong uniform ranks, but these vanished with the lodges. The Pythian Sisters of the two lodges also were strong, and I understand some of the Pythian Sisters unit still meets occasionally.

Other lodges which passed out of existence during the past 40 years include Buena Vista, Madison Mills and Yatesville.

Bloomingburg Lodge was the last one to close its doors, and the property belonging to that lodge is stored in an old building in Bloomingburg.

FEW PUMPKINS

Pumpkins have suddenly become almost a thing of the past, and many farmers who formerly planted pumpkin seed with their corn and raised both corn and pumpkins, now do not raise any pumpkins, or if they do, it is just a few for pies, etc.

The reason is that pumpkins and corn pickers don't mix, and it is a real task to gather pumpkins from a cornfield before the corn is cut, so the farmers do not plant pumpkin seed with their corn.

I am wondering if growing pumpkins exclusively on a tract of land, for the canners, would not be profitable.

FIRST RURAL MAIL

First rural mail delivery in Fayette County was out of the Bloomingburg post office, some 60 years ago.

James Brown, who died recently at a local rest home, was the man who carried the rural mail, and that was years before rural free delivery was put into effect.

Jim carried the mail between Bloomingburg and Yatesville. Many patrons obtained their mail at Yatesville when the store and post office were in charge of V. M. Durflinger and son, Edward.

William Parker, J. M. Klever, Charles Yore, N. T. Kelley and a few others paid Jim so much each year for taking their mail from the Bloomingburg post office and delivering it to wooden boxes erected on gate posts along the highway.

Later rural delivery was established, and Nathaniel Roller, of Bloomingburg, carried mail over the route for years.

NEW SUPER HIGHWAY

All reports indicate that one of the next super highways built in Ohio will be the CCC from Cleveland to Cincinnati, by way if Columbus and Washington C. H.

This probably will be done within the next few years, and the four lane highway will, according to plans announced, bypass Washington C. H. on the north.

One report is that the road may leave the present route at the bend opposite the Robert P. Wilson home, two miles northeast of Washington C. H., and pass through the county farm or farms, thence westward a short distance north of Washington C. H., crossing the Jeffersonville road near the David Whiteside residence, and finally joining the present route some distance west of this city. However exact route has not yet been determined by engineers.

* * *

A SAFETY MEASURE

I see that work of cutting away the concrete ends of culverts on the CCC Highway northeast of Washington C. H. preparatory to widening the road two feet on each side, is under way.

What a wonderful thing it would be, it seems to me, if all of the upright concrete ends of culverts could be chiseled away, and no more built, for these concrete ends are deadly when a car leaves a highway and crashes into them.

Perhaps my idea of engineering is faulty, but it seems that if the ends of the culverts were extended, and the tops sloped down instead of the upright concrete walls being erected, public safety would be greatly increased. Anyway, it is something to think about.

Fountains in Cincy May Run in Winter

CINCINNATI (AP)—The fountains of Cincinnati's famous Fountain Square may spout something besides water later this year.

City maintenance chief Edwin Potts says the Junior Chamber of Commerce asked for a study on injecting anti-freeze into the recirculating system, to keep it operating over the Christmas holidays. Potts said he figured about 3,000 gallons of anti-freeze would do the trick.

Portsmouth Folk Now Talk Only about Telephone Strike

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—People here talk about the telephone strike, the weather—and the telephone strike.

They aren't sure which affects them more.

"Beautiful day" or "Lousy weather" used to be the greeting. Now they pass on the streets, grimly shake their heads and mumble something about "telephones" or the lack of them.

Usually, they are trotting somewhere they wouldn't have trotted 16 days ago. That was when Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. closed its exchanges here and in surrounding Scioto County after the installations were stoned by a crowd of 500 persons.

This is the third and longest telephone blackout this Ohio River city has seen during the strike, now in its 109th day. The strike began July 15 when 636 members of the Communications Workers of America walked off their jobs in parts of 24 southern Ohio counties.

Besides Portsmouth, a city of some 40,000, at least six other communities served by the company have gone without telephones during the long and bitter dispute.

The company says telephone bells won't jingle here again until "law and order is an established fact."

Meanwhile, a lot of people are grudgingly learning what they can do without—when they have to. So far, no one has resorted to smoke signals.

A few absent-minded residents still pick up a phone now and then, only to realize that they would hear more by listening to a sea shell.

Portsmouth housewives resort to the old-fashioned gossiping over a backyard fence. Messenger service and parlor chats are back in vogue. Taxi-cab drivers cruise the streets hoping to be flagged rather than snoozing while waiting for telephone calls. Western Union is working like it never did before.

'Get a Horse' Is Campus Cry

This year, there are only 1,022 parking spaces on the campus and 2,000 cars are registered for campus parking.

Dean of Men W. C. Perry said each new parking space costs the university $500. Four new parking areas have been added since last year and three are being constructed.

This still doesn't keep up with demand.

The police, taxi companies and amateur radio operators have set up an emergency broadcast system that is connected with hospitals, law enforcement agencies and fire stations.

In outlying Scioto County, deputy sheriff's make regular tours through rural areas, stopping at designated spots. Citizens who need them know when and where they can be found.

Sixty-one extra state highway patrolmen sent here by Gov. Frank J. Lausche also deliver emergency messages either by radio or in their cruisers.

NEW SUPER HIGHWAY

All reports indicate that one of the next super highways built in Ohio will be the CCC from Cleveland to Cincinnati, by way if Columbus and Washington C. H.

This probably will be done within the next few years, and the four lane highway will, according to plans announced, bypass Washington C. H. on the north.

One report is that the road may leave the present route at the bend opposite the Robert P. Wilson home, two miles northeast of Washington C. H., and pass through the county farm or farms, thence westward a short distance north of Washington C. H., crossing the Jeffersonville road near the David Whiteside residence, and finally joining the present route some distance west of this city. However exact route has not yet been determined by engineers.

A SAFETY MEASURE

I see that work of cutting away the concrete ends of culverts on the CCC Highway northeast of Washington C. H. preparatory to widening the road two feet on each side, is under way.

What a wonderful thing it would be, it seems to me, if all of the upright concrete ends of culverts could be chiseled away, and no more built, for these concrete ends are deadly when a car leaves a highway and crashes into them.

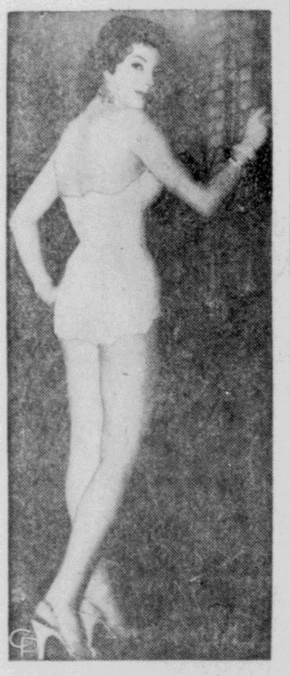

Perhaps my idea of engineering is faulty, but it seems that if the ends of the culverts were extended, and the tops sloped down instead of the upright concrete walls being erected, public safety would be greatly increased. Anyway, it is something to think about.

Fountains in Cincy May Run in Winter

CINCINNATI (AP)—The fountains of Cincinnati's famous Fountain Square may spout something besides water later this year.

City maintenance chief Edwin Potts says the Junior Chamber of Commerce asked for a study on injecting anti-freeze into the recirculating system, to keep it operating over the Christmas holidays. Potts said he figured about 3,000 gallons of anti-freeze would do the trick.

Portsmouth Folk Now Talk Only about Telephone Strike

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—People here talk about the telephone strike, the weather—and the telephone strike.

They aren't sure which affects them more.

"Beautiful day" or "Lousy weather" used to be the greeting. Now they pass on the streets, grimly shake their heads and mumble something about "telephones" or the lack of them.

Usually, they are trotting somewhere they wouldn't have trotted 16 days ago. That was when Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. closed its exchanges here and in surrounding Scioto County after the installations were stoned by a crowd of 500 persons.

This is the third and longest telephone blackout this Ohio River city has seen during the strike, now in its 109th day. The strike began July 15 when 636 members of the Communications Workers of America walked off their jobs in parts of 24 southern Ohio counties.

Besides Portsmouth, a city of some 40,000, at least six other communities served by the company ha gone without telephones during the long and bitter dispute.

The company says telephone bells won't jingle here again until "law and order is an established fact."

Meanwhile, a lot of people are grudgingly learning what they can do without—when they have to. So far, no one has resorted to smoke signals.

A few absent-minded residents still pick up a phone now and then, only to realize that they would hear more by listening to a sea shell.

Portsmouth housewives resort to the old-fashioned gossiping over a backyard fence. Messenger service and parlor chats are back in vogue. Taxi-cab drivers cruise the streets hoping to be flagged rather than snoozing while waiting for telephone calls. Western Union is working like it never did before.

The police, taxi companies and amateur radio operators have set up an emergency broadcast system that is connected with hospitals, law enforcement agencies and fire stations.

In outlying Scioto County, deputy sheriff's make regular tours through rural areas, stopping at designated spots. Citizens who need them know when and where they can be found.

This year, there are only 1,022 parking spaces on the campus and 2,000 cars are registered for campus parking.

Dean of Men W. C. Perry said each new parking space costs the university $500. Four new parking areas have been added since last year and three are being constructed.

Armed Forces Courier Service Guards Uncle Samuel's Secrets

By NORMAN SKLAREWITZ
(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO—That old favorite of murder mystery writers—the diplomatic courier—fast is taking a back seat to a more efficient but less dramatic way of getting secret documents transported around the world.

At one time, the silent man with the locked briefcase chained to his wrist could be found in almost every novel of foreign intrigue. Nowadays, though, our State and Defense departments rely on an elaborate organization to carry their secrets.

It's the Armed Forces Courier Service. With its headquarters in Washington, D. C. this outfit is geared to deliver the most classified material to any U. S. embassy or military mission no matter where.

SHARP-EYED VISITORS to the field often wonder about the neat young officer with a .45 calibre automatic tucked in a shoulder holster who meets many of the U. S. bound and arriving airplanes. He's the duty officer from the AFCS Transfer station.

Just as soon as the passengers begin to debark, he makes contact with the armed courier officer aboard. The two exchange identification, then the duty officer takes charge of the green, locked pouches which are the last piece of baggage put aboard any aircraft, and first off.

The puch immediately is whisked to the transfer station. There a special rotary lock is opened and a document manifest checked to insure that all the secret papers inside are in order.

The transfer station itself is a miniature fortress. It has half-inch steel bars on all windows. Inside the room is an inner enclosure surrounded by heavy wire grilling. There is no door to this inner sanctum. Anyone who enters or leaves must pass through a low passageway — a guarantee against anyone trying to force his way in and then running off with a wanted ocument.

In charge of the Tokyo section of the AFCS is Capt. Stephen Dudas of Cadillac, Mich. He has a staff of five officers and six enlisted men who work 12-hour shifts to keep the office open around the clock, seven days a week.

* * *

THIS STATION is like dozens of others scattered from Thule, Greenland, to Casablanca, North Africa, and from Adak, Alaska, to Paris, France. Each serves to move secret documents and classified government material safely and speedily.

If the American embassy in Tokyo wants to move some secret papers to Washington, it merely enlists the help of the AFCS. The shipment is documented carefully and then bagged in a pouch that has a unique "counter lock." The lock records each time it is opened.

At the airport, the pouch is made part of the daily shipments back to the U. S. One of the officers scheduled to be aboard the aircraft is designated the courier officer. He is briefed as to the procedures for handling his special cargo and then issued a loaded revolver.

From the time the documents are turned over to him until he gets a signed receipt at his destination, they are his responsibility. But he has help along the way. When the plane touches down at Honolulu for a stopover, an armed pair of Air Policemen are there waiting to stand watch. The same system is followed at dozens of airbases all over the world.

The Armed Forces Courier Service may not provide mystery writer with much in the way of excitement or glamor, but that's the way its staff likes to operate. "We are in business for only one purpose," says Capt. Dudas. "To deliver the material put in our hands." This the AFCS does.

Drownings are second only to motor vehicles as a cause of accidental death.

Tonsil Survives Chain Reaction

Two-Way Radar

WAVERLY, Iowa (AP) — An Air Force radar site near Waverly has proved to be a boon for marriageable girls in this section.

In the first year of an airman squadron's assignment there, 44 men were married to girls in the area. That was in 1952. Since then, an average of 12 airmen per year have married Waverly area girls.

Mission Accomplished

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) — Evening Post carrier Bobby Hudson grimly watched a physician make 10 stitches in his arm to close a wound received hours before when his bicycle skidded on wet pavement. Asked why he had waited so long before seeking treatment, Bobby replied, "I had to finish my paper route."

Businessmen Sure Future Looks Bright

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen and economists—with only a handful of exceptions—are united today in predicting more of what one bank dubs "exuberant prosperity."

They are doing so for the most part without much hedging on such hazards as the outcome of the national election, the upheaval in eastern Europe and the strife in the Middle East.

"The outlook is bright" is the phrase that keeps popping up when industrialists — steel, autos, oil, machinery, rail equipment, even some textile executives—report on what has happened in their companies over the last nine months and what they foresee ahead. In many cases they are including the first part of 1957 as well as the remaining two months of 1956.

"Prosperity today is our biggest problem," says David F. Austin, executive vice president of U. S. Steel. The booming economy is taxing the steel industry's ability to keep up, let alone expand.

"A straining economy" is what the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York calls it today in its November survey. it sees "demand straining hard against supply in most basic lines and inflationary pressures threatening to gain the ascendancy."

But it finds present conditions mainly favorable, citing a new record for September in total civilian employment, a significant drop in the number of unemployed, a rise in the average factory worker's hourly wage rate, increasing industrial production, and a fairly satisfactory volume of retail trade.

"These trends in production, trade, and employment add up to a condition of exuberant prosperity," the bank's economists report.

Noting that businessmen "seem to be very hopeful that activity will be sustained well into 1957, at least," the bank finds it "difficult to quarrel with this view."

Foremost they put "the rather unsatisfactory trend of corporate profits." This began to show up in the first half of the year when rising costs began to nibble at profits. And the nine months earnings reports now pouring in show that this trend has been increasing.

If the trend persists, the bankers see the possibility "that plant and equipment spending — now such a conspicuous feature of the boom—might be arrested."

The other uncertainty that the bank cites is "today's restrictive credit policy."

"There seems to be no sign thus far that credit policy will prove too strong a brake," the bank states. But it concedes the chance that tight money could slow down the boom in time—"the question would then become whether the trend could be easily reversed, and to this also there can be no certain answer."

But in the capital goods industries at least top men are saying, "The outlook is bright as far ahead as we can see." For them no Halloween hobgoblins.

Re: SAM B. MARTING, ET AL. VS. BOARD OF EDUCATION, FAYETTE COUNTY, ET AL.

Dear Sir:

Inasmuch as our demurrer has been passed on by the Court, we deem it advisable to inform your Board of the legal and factual situation in the case at this point.

We are in the process of preparing an Entry to journalize the Court's ruling. As you will recall, the Court sustained our claim that the transfer of the Bloomingburg, Jefferson and Paint Local School Districts was proper, and overruled the contention that the first claim of the Plaintiffs did not state a cause of action.

We wish to emphasize to you that this ruling is NOT a final determination of the case, and is NOT an order to you or anyone else, to set a date for or appoint a delegate to a convention to select a Citizens' Committee. The total effect of this ruling is to require the Plaintiffs to put in their petition only those matters which it is proper for the Court to consider, and for us to answer them. There can not be any final order in this case until both parties have been afforded the right to present all of the evidence at their disposal for the Court to consider.

We have been informed that it is being claimed by the Plaintiffs in this case that the effect of this ruling is to require you to set a date for and appoint a delegate to a convention to select a Citizens' Committee. Please be assured that this is NOT the case, and we believe it will not be the case upon final determination of the issues before the Court.

These alleged statements are either the result of ignorance of the legal effect of these procedures, or are a studied effort to distort the effect, for whatever purposes the Plaintiffs feel they may serve.

An order has been filed dismissing the injunction case. As you already know, the Court had previously denied a temporary restraining order.

We will continue to keep you advised as to the various steps which we have taken, or expect to take, in this matter.

Respectfully,

BUTLER, ADDISON & WERUM

Armed Forces Courier Service Guards Uncle Samuel's Secrets

By NORMAN SKLAREWITZ
(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO—That old favorite of murder mystery writers—the diplomatic courier—fast is taking a back seat to a more efficient but less dramatic way of getting secret documents transported around the world.

At one time, the silent man with the locked briefcase chained to his wrist could be found in almost every novel of foreign intrigue. Nowadays, though, our State and Defense departments rely on an elaborate organization to carry their secrets.

It's the Armed Forces Courier Service. With its headquarters in Washington, D. C. this outfit is geared to deliver the most classified material to any U. S. embassy or military mission no matter where.

* * *

SHARP-EYED VISITORS to the field often wonder about the neat young officer with a .45 calibre automatic tucked in a shoulder holster who meets many of the U. S. bound and arriving airplanes. He's the duty officer from the AFCS Transfer station.

Just as soon as the passengers begin to debark, he makes contact with the armed courier officer aboard. The two exchange identification, then the duty officer takes charge of the green, locked pounches which are the last piece of baggage put aboard any aircraft, and first off.

The puch immediately is whisked to the transfer station. There a special rotary lock is opened and a document manifest checked to insure that all the secret papers inside are in order.

The transfer station itself is a miniature fortress. It has half-inch steel bars on all windows. Inside the room is an inner enclosure surrounded by heavy wire grilling. There is no door to this inner sanctum. Anyone who enters or leaves must pass through a low passageway — a guarantee against anyone trying to force his way in and then running off with a wanted ocument.

In charge of the Tokyo section of the AFCS is Capt. Stephen Dudas of Cadillac, Mich. He has a staff of five officers and six enlisted men who work 12-hour shifts to keep the office open around the clock, seven days a week.

* * *

THIS STATION is like dozens of others scattered from Thule, Greenland, to Casablanca, North Africa, and from Adak, Alaska, to Paris, France. Each serves to move secret documents and classified government material safely and speedily.

If the American embassy in Tokyo wants to move some secret papers to Washington, it merely enlists the help of the AFCS. The shipment is documented carefully and then bagged in a pouch that has a unique "counter lock." The lock records each time it is opened.

At the airport, the pouch is made part of the daily shipments back to the U. S. One of the officers scheduled to be aboard the aircraft is designated the courier officer. He is briefed as to the procedures for handling his special cargo and then issued a loaded revolver.

From the time the documents are turned over to him until he gets a signed receipt at his destination, they are his responsibility. But he has help along the way. When the plane touches down at Honolulu for a stopover, an armed pair of Air Policemen are there waiting to stand watch. The same system is followed at dozens of airbases all over the world.

The Armed Forces Courier Service may not provide mystery writer with much in the way of excitement or glamor, but that's the way its staff likes to operate. "We are in business for only one purpose," says Capt. Dudas. "To deliver the material put in our hands." This the AFCS does.

Drownings are second only to motor vehicles as a cause of accidental death.

2 Oklahoma Stars Eyed as All-Americans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma's devastating halfback combination, a slender tailback who recalls another era and a sore-shouldered fullback are among the leading All America backfield candidates as the football season swings into November.

Tommy McDonald, seeking All America honors for the second straight year, and Clendon Thomas are the twin spark plugs who ignite the nation's most potent offense, then demoralize opponents with their defensive skills.

"The best tailback we've every had," is Tennessee Athletic Director Gen. Bob Neyland's description of John (Drum) Majors. The waspish, 162-pounder does most of the running, all the passing and kicking, calls signals and plays safetyman in the once-dominant single wing system.

Jack Pardee, a fullback who plays with unrestrained vigor, is the heart of the Texas Aggies as an outstanding runner and linebacker. He starred in vital Southwest Conference triumphs over Texas Christian and Baylor despite a deep shoulder bruise.

The Associated Press regional All America boards located in every sector of the country have made their first nominations complete through October happenings.

USC's Jon Arnett, Michigan State's Clarence Peaks and 1955 All America Jim Swink from Texas Christian appear to be the victims of circumstance.

Arnett, one of the best runners of this or any year, was able to play only half the campaign under a Pacific Coast Conference ruling limiting certain seniors to five games. Peaks' college career ended last week due to torn knee ligaments requiring an operation.

Swink continues to be an important cog in the Horned Frog attack as a pass receiver and blocker, but the lad who captured the nation's imagination as a climax runner a year ago is being fairly well contained by enemy defenses.

Three eastern performers — Milt Plum of Penn State, Bob Kyasky of Army and Guy Martin of Colgate — also are listed with the quarterback candidates. They are joined by Don Flynn of Houston, Jim Lugar of Virginia Tech and Ralph Hunsaker of Arizona.

In the midlands, Bill Pricer, the unsung blocker, kicker and line blaster at Oklahoma and John (The Beast) Bayuk of Colorado rate mention. So do Georgia Tech's Ken Owen, Virginia's Jim Bakhtiar, Miami's Don Bosseler, Bobby Conner of Virginia Tech and Charles Anders of West Texas State.

Marty Marion Eyes Tribe Post

The 39-year-old former St. Louis Cardinal shortstop, who recently resigned as Chicago White Sox manager, said Greenberg told him Friday he would confer with him in St. Louis this week. He didn't pinpoint the time.

"I haven't made up my mind yet," Marion said when asked if he was available for the job. "I don't want to comment until I've talked to Greenberg."

Lion Gridders Concentrate on Defensive Play

Anders Banged Up In Scrimmage Session Wednesday

There is at least one football player around who can tell you that the Blue Lions' defensive practice is starting to pay off. He is right guard Jack Anders, who has been having a hard time walking ever since Wednesday afternoon's scrimmage.

Jack suffered a charleyhorse when he was piled into by a substantial number of linemen during a defensive practice session. How much action he will see against Hilliards is not yet known.

EIGHT of the 11 starters still have another year of eligibility. However, Clarke, Cox and star back Bainter will graduate this year. Washington Boosters have high hopes for next season.

The Junior High 11 plays Chillicothe West Fifth at Gardner Park Thursday at 4:30 p. m.

Sarlo's Stampede Said Sensational

CHICAGO (AP) — Truck driver Carlo Sarlo's debut as a main event welterweight was anything but sensational. But his stampeding tactics were.

In fact, the Chicago welterweight displayed such bull like rushes Wednesday night that at times it looked as if the red-wrapped ring ropes at Chicago Stadium were attracting him.

Joe Miceli, 10th ranking 145-pounder from New York and a veteran of 84 fights, went through the motions of a matador waving his cape in a bull ring from the fifth round on and carved out a 10-round unanimous decision.

Landslide Ride Brings Lawsuit

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Four women who rode a landslide down Santa Monica's Pacific Palisades Aug. 26 are suing the city for a total of $55,000, contending it was the city's land which slid.

Mrs. Maude Hankerson, 64, Mrs. Lucille Glenn, 48, Mrs. Eugenie Baughman, 72, and Mrs. Norah K. Hayward, 63, said in their suit that they were injured when a portion of the Palisades Park broke away, dropping them—and nearly 12,000 tons of earth—on the Pacific Coast Highway.

Glenn Johnson, who won the Michigan amateur golf crown the last three years, quarter-backed Michigan State football teams in 1941, 1942 and 1945.

Losers Rap, Winners OK Grid Referees

NEW YORK (AP)—Whether officiating in the National Football League is good or bad apparently depends on a team's position in the standings.

A check of club officials showed that for the most part the coaches and owners of teams with poor records condemn the officiating while those with title chances see nothing wrong with the way the rules are being administered.

It all started with Tony Morabito, owner of the San Francisco 49ers, expressing dissatisfaction with the officiating after his club lost to the Chicago Bears 38-21 Sunday for their fourth setback in five games. Morabito said he would try to get Commissioner Bert Bell fired when the league meets in January.

And then Morabito was joined by Coach Paul Brown, whose Cleveland Browns also have dropped 4 of their 5 games.

"It isn't only Tony," siad Brown. "There is a general feeling around the league that the officiating has to be improved. The thing that irks Tony is that you can't do anything about it. But something has to be done, and I think Bert Bell himself agrees that something must be done."

To which Bell replied:

"The officials are doing a great job. They have 50 or 60 judgment plays a game and naturally everyone doesn't see them the same way. We have the best officials around. I don't say they don't sometimes make mistakes. We all do. But they do a great job in a tough situation."

Lining up with Bell in the argument were officials of the Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants, whose 4-1 records gives them a tie for first place in the Eastern Conference.

Dayton To Host AAU Track Test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The National AAU track and field championships for 1957 have been awarded to Dayton, Ohio, after a discussion in which the segregation issue was raised.

Dayton won out over Corpus Christi, Tex., Wednesday when convention delegates raised the possibility that Negroes competing in the meet might experience difficulties infinding living quarters in the Texas town.

Kansas Wesleyan Leads on Offense

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas Wesleyan University at Salina, unbeaten and untied in six starts this season, is rushing leader in small college football statistics released today by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics with 376.1 yards per game.

Total offense leader is Mississippi Vocational with an impressive 489.7 yards average passing and rushing. Tied for second with identical averages of 410.5 yards were Lenoir-Rhyne, Hickory, N. C., and Findlay College in Ohio.

No Handicap Seen Facing Olympics

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—It's unlikely that war clouds in the Middle East will cast a shadow over the Olympic games in Australia later this month, Avery Brundage said today.

The president of the International Olympic Committee said he expects all athletes entered from the various countries to be on hand when the Olympic torch is lighted in Melbourne Nov. 22.

"The games are not concerned with political matters, at all," said Brundage. "I have no reason to believe that present fighting in Egypt will hurt the games."

Offensive Stars Coming from West

CHICAGO (AP) — Football teams west of the Mississippi seem to have cornered the market on offensive stars with one of the brightest a speedy halfback from Utah State.

Led by Jack Hill, who has amassed 90 points for the individual scoring leadership in the nation, western teams captured the top two positions in three offensive departments, NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed today.

Hill has accumulated his total on 13 touchdowns and 12 extra points to lead his nearest competitor by 20 points. Wyoming's Jim Crawford is runnerup on 10 TDs and a like number of one-pointers.

Tommy Henrich To Join Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Henrich has joined the "enemy." For years a fixture in right field with the New York Yankees, Henrich returns to baseball in 1957 after a six-year lapse as a coach under manager Billy Rigney of the New York Giants.

Henrich turned down an offer from the Yankees to manage a club in their minor league farm system after the 1951 World Series.

Bowling Draws Increasing Interest from TV Viewers

NEW YORK (AP)—While a lot of people have been looking the other way, bowling has been attracting very large television audiences.

Whether televised bowling matches have influenced the tremendous increase in the national popularity of this sport or TV bowling merely reflects the widespread interest is a sort of chicken-or-egg argument. Certainly they are interrelated.

The television hubbub began a few years ago when a Chicago auto dealer named Peter De Met sponsored a bowling program on a local TV station there. After a short time the show developed the largest audience of any live local program in the Chicago area. If it worked in Chicago, De Met asked himself, why shouldn't it work on a national basis?

He borrowed $300,000 and launched the syndicated filmed series Championship Bowling three years ago. Its popularity increased rapidly until its audience ratings rivaled those of many widely publicized shows. Spurred by its success, competitive bowling programs such as National Bowling Champions have sprung into being.

What is there about this sport of bowling that makes it so popular?

There is a bowling authority here in New York who has a fascinating theory. When he is not bowling or talking or thinking about bowling, he writes a column for the Associated Press. His name is Hal Boyle.

Boyle's theory of bowling is simply this: It is the perfect civilized way that one can work off his repressed aggressiveness. Those pins at the end of the alley represent the things that bother you most — your job or wife or husband or boss or mother-in-law. It is highly significant, believes Boyle, that the bowling ball is black — which is symbolic of the evil one casts from himself.

4 NL Teams Top Million Fans Mark

CINCINNATI (AP)—Four teams in the National League drew more than a million fans at home during the 1956 baseball season but the New York Giants, representing the largest city, finished dead last in fan turnout.

The Giants, who must share fan allegiance with the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees, had a total attendance of only 629,179.

Those figures were contained in a league headquarters report Wednesday which showed the loop, as a whole, drew 8,649,567 fans, the biggest total since 1949 when there were 9,484,718 paying customers. The 1955 league total was 7,674,412.

Milwaukee, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis were the clubs which bettered the million mark in home attendance. Milwaukee, with 2,046,331, passed the two million mark for the third straight year. Cincinnati's 1,125,928 marked the first time the Redlegs ever had drawn more than a million.

Five clubs — Brooklyn, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, New York and St. Louis drew more than a million customers on the road. In 1955, only Brooklyn and New York were over the million mark in road attendance.

2 Oklahoma Stars Eyed as All-Americans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma's devastating halfback combination, a slender tailback who recalls another era and a sore-shouldered fullback are among the leading All America backfield candidates as the football season swings into November.

Tommy McDonald, seeking All America honors for the second straight year, and Clendon Thomas are the twin spark plugs who ignite the nation's most potent offense, then demoralize opponents with their defensive skills.

"The best tailback we've every had," is Tennessee Athletic Director Gen. Bob Neyland's description of John (Drum) Majors. The waspish, 162-pounder does most of the running, all the passing and kicking, calls signals and plays safetyman in the once-dominant single wing system.

Jack Pardee, a fullback who plays with unrestrained vigor, is the heart of the Texas Aggies as an outstanding runner and linebacker. He starred in vital Southwest Conference triumphs over Texas Christian and Baylor despite a deep shoulder bruise.

The Associated Press regional All America boards located in every sector of the country have made their first nominations complete through October happenings.

USC's Jon Arnett, Michigan State's Clarence Peaks and 1955 All America Jim Swink from Texas Christian appear to be the victims of circumstance.

Arnett, one of the best runners of this or any year, was able to play only half the campaign under a Pacific Coast Conference ruling limiting certain seniors to five games. Peaks' college career ended last week due to torn knee ligaments requiring an operation.

A full season is necessary to adequately judge a player's performance under all conditions.

Swink continues to be an important cog in the Horned Frog attack as a pass receiver and blocker, but the lad who captured the nation's imagination as a climax runner a year ago is being fairly well contained by enemy defenses.

Three eastern performers — Milt Plum of Penn State, Bob Kyasky of Army and Guy Martin of Colgate — also are listed with the quarterback candidates. They are joined by Don Flynn of Houston, Jim Lugar of Virginia Tech and Ralph Hunsaker of Arizona.

In the midlands, Bill Pricer, the unsung blocker, kicker and line blaster at Oklahoma and John (The Beast) Bayuk of Colorado rate mention. So do Georgia Tech's Ken Owen, Virginia's Jim Bakhtiar, Miami's Don Bosseler, Bobby Conner of Virginia Tech and Charles Anders of West Texas State.

Marty Marion Eyes Tribe Post

The 39-year-old former St. Louis Cardinal shortstop, who recently resigned as Chicago White Sox manager, said Greenberg told him Friday he would confer with him in St. Louis this week. He didn't pinpoint the time.

"I haven't made up my mind yet," Marion said when asked if he was available for the job. "I don't want to comment until I've talked to Greenberg."

Lion Gridders Concentrate on Defensive Play

Anders Banged Up In Scrimmage Session Wednesday

There is at least one football player around who can tell you that the Blue Lions' defensive practice is starting to pay off. He is right guard Jack Anders, who has been having a hard time walking ever since Wednesday afternoon's scrimmage.

Jack suffered a charleyhorse when he was piled into by a substantial number of linemen during a defensive practice session. How much action he will see against Hilliards is not yet known.

* * *

EIGHT of the 11 starters still have another year of eligibility. However, Clarke, Cox and star back Bainter will graduate this year. Washington Boosters have high hopes for next season.

The Junior High 11 plays Chillicothe West Fifth at Gardner Park Thursday at 4:30 p. m.

Sarlo's Stampede Said Sensational

CHICAGO (AP) — Truck driver Carlo Sarlo's debut as a main event welterweight was anything but sensational. But his stampeding tactics were.

In fact, the Chicago welterweight displayed such bull like rushes Wednesday night that at times it looked as if the red-wrapped ring ropes at Chicago Stadium were attracting him.

Joe Miceli, 10th ranking 145-pounder from New York and a veteran of 84 fights, went through the motions of a matador waving his cape in a bull ring from the fifth round on and carved out a 10-round unanimous decision.

Landslide Ride Brings Lawsuit

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Four women who rode a landslide down Santa Monica's Pacific Palisades Aug. 26 are suing the city for a total of $55,000, contending it was the city's land which slid.

Mrs. Maude Hankerson, 64, Mrs. Lucille Glenn, 48, Mrs. Eugenie Baughman, 72, and Mrs. Norah K. Hayward, 63, said in their suit that they were injured when a portion of the Palisades Park broke away, dropping them—and nearly 12,000 tons of earth—on the Pacific Coast Highway.

Glenn Johnson, who won the Michigan amateur golf crown the last three years, quarter-backed Michigan State football teams in 1941, 1942 and 1945.

Mike Peppe has coached Ohio State University's swimmers since 1930.

Losers Rap, Winners OK Grid Referees

NEW YORK (AP)—Whether officiating in the National Football League is good or bad apparently depends on a team's position in the standings.

A check of club officials showed that for the most part the coaches and owners of teams with poor records condemn the officiating while those with title chances see nothing wrong with the way the rules are being administered.

It all started with Tony Morabito, owner of the San Francisco 49ers, expressing dissatisfaction with the officiating after his club lost to the Chicago Bears 38-21 Sunday for their fourth setback in five games. Morabito said he would try to get Commissioner Bert Bell fired when the league meets in January.

And then Morabito was joined by Coach Paul Brown, whose Cleveland Browns also have dropped 4 of their 5 games.

"It isn't only Tony," siad Brown. "There is a general feeling around the league that the officiating has to be improved. The thing that irks Tony is that you can't do anything about it. But something has to be done, and I think Bert Bell himself agrees that something must be done."

To which Bell replied:

"The officials are doing a great job. They have 50 or 60 judgment plays a game and naturally everyone doesn't see them the same way. We have the best officials around. I don't say they don't sometimes make mistakes. We all do. But they do a great job in a tough situation."

Lining up with Bell in the argument were officials of the Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants, whose 4-1 records gives them a tie for first place in the Eastern Conference.

Dayton To Host AAU Track Test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The National AAU track and field championships for 1957 have been awarded to Dayton, Ohio, after a discussion in which the segregation issue was raised.

Dayton won out over Corpus Christi, Tex., Wednesday when convention delegates raised the possibility that Negroes competing in the meet might experience difficulties infinding living quarters in the Texas town.

Kansas Wesleyan Leads on Offense

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas Wesleyan University at Salina, unbeaten and untied in six starts this season, is rushing leader in small college football statistics released today by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics with 376.1 yards per game.

Total offense leader is Mississippi Vocational with an impressive 489.7 yards average passing and rushing. Tied for second with identical averages of 410.5 yards were Lenoir-Rhyne, Hickory, N. C., and Findlay College in Ohio.

No Handicap Seen Facing Olympics

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—It's unlikely that war clouds in the Middle East will cast a shadow over the Olympic games in Australia later this month, Avery Brundage said today.

The president of the International Olympic Committee said he expects all athletes entered from the various countries to be on hand when the Olympic torch is lighted in Melbourne Nov. 22.

"The games are not concerned with political matters, at all," said Brundage. "I have no reason to believe that present fighting in Egypt will hurt the games."

Offensive Stars Coming from West

CHICAGO (AP) — Football teams west of the Mississippi seem to have cornered the market on offensive stars with one of the brightest a speedy halfback from Utah State.

Led by Jack Hill, who has amassed 90 points for the individual scoring leadership in the nation, western teams captured the top two positions in three offensive departments, NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed today.

Hill has accumulated his total on 13 touchdowns and 12 extra points to lead his nearest competitor by 20 points. Wyoming's Jim Crawford is runnerup on 10 TDs and a like number of one-pointers.

Tommy Henrich To Join Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Henrich has joined the "enemy." For years a fixture in right field with the New York Yankees, Henrich returns to baseball in 1957 after a six-year lapse as a coach under manager Billy Rigney of the New York Giants.

Henrich turned down an offer from the Yankees to manage a club in their minor league farm system after the 1951 World Series.

Bowling Draws Increasing Interest from TV Viewers

NEW YORK (AP)—While a lot of people have been looking the other way, bowling has been attracting very large television audiences.

Whether televised bowling matches have influenced the tremendous increase in the national popularity of this sport or TV bowling merely reflects the widespread interest is a sort of chicken-or-egg argument. Certainly they are interrelated.

The television hubbub began a few years ago when a Chicago auto dealer named Peter De Met sponsored a bowling program on a local TV station there. After a short time the show developed the largest audience of any live local program in the Chicago area. If it worked in Chicago, De Met asked himself, why shouldn't it work on a national basis?

He borrowed $300,000 and launched the syndicated filmed series Championship Bowling three years ago. Its popularity increased rapidly until its audience ratings rivaled those of many widely publicized shows. Spurred by its success, competitive bowling programs such as National Bowling Champions have sprung into being.

What is there about this sport of bowling that makes it so popular?

There is a bowling authority here in New York who has a fascinating theory. When he is not bowling or talking or thinking about bowling, he writes a column for the Associated Press. His name is Hal Boyle.

Boyle's theory of bowling is simply this: It is the perfect civilized way that one can work off his repressed aggressiveness. Those pins at the end of the alley represent the things that bother you most — your job or wife or husband or boss or mother-in-law. It is highly significant, believes Boyle, that the bowling ball is black — which is symbolic of the evil one casts from himself.

4 NL Teams Top Million Fans Mark

CINCINNATI (AP)—Four teams in the National League drew more than a million fans at home during the 1956 baseball season but the New York Giants, representing the largest city, finished dead last in fan turnout.

The Giants, who must share fan allegiance with the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees, had a total attendance of only 629,179.

Those figures were contained in a league headquarters report Wednesday which showed the loop, as a whole, drew 8,649,567 fans, the biggest total since 1949 when there were 9,484,718 paying customers. The 1955 league total was 7,674,412.

Milwaukee, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis were the clubs which bettered the million mark in home attendance. Milwaukee, with 2,046,331, passed the two million mark for the third straight year. Cincinnati's 1,125,928 marked the first time the Redlegs ever had drawn more than a million.

October Proves Dry and Warm

1.40 Inches of Rain Fall during Month

The weather summary for the month of October, prepared by U. S. Weather Observer Coyt A. Stookey, shows that the month was a very dry and unusually warm.

Total rainfall was only 1.40 inches compared with a 2.90 inch normal, and the mean or average temperature was 2.88 degrees above normal.

Normal temperature for October is 55.30 degrees and average for the past month was 58.10 degrees.

While rainfall credited to October was only 1.40, most of a .69-inch rain Wednesday night fell during the last hours of the month, which, if added to October would have increased the total to 2.09 inches.

* * *

PEAK temperature during October was 79 degrees on both the 16th and 17th and the lowest reading during the month was 33 degrees on Oct. 11.

August precipitation was .63 degrees below normal and September was .12 of an inch above normal.

Up to Oct. 1, total precipitation for the year was 34.80 inches, compared with a normal of 32.67 inches, so that total precipitation this year to date, not counting that of Wednesday night, is 2.13 inches above normal.

Although rainfall was scant during October it came at times when it kept the fall pastures alive, and did much toward giving the wheat a good start. Rain Wednesday night was very beneficial to the wheat and pastures.

Pallbearers were six nephews, Kenneth, Ted, Clifford, Ray and Ralph Warner and Milton Dodds. Burial was in the Good Hope Cemetery.

Confederate Vet To Get Union Medal

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Union Army at last will present a medal to Confederate Walter Williams.

The 4th Army announced it would present the medal Friday to the 113-year-old former forager for Hood's Texas Brigade. He is one of three survivors of the war.

The 84th Congress authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to strike suitable medals in honor of the last surviving veteran of the Civil War.

Joseph C. Knisley, Sedalia, Dies Here

Joseph C. Knisley, 77, retired farmer of the Sedalia community, died at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday in Memorial Hospital here after an illness of six months.

The last member of his family, he was a member of the Church of Christ in Christian Union at Sedalia.

Surviving are his wife, Jennie; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Wallace, Washington C. H.; two sons, Wilbur, Washington C. H., and Gordon, Jamestown; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Sedalia Methodist Church, with the Rev. C. W. Jenkins, Urbana, officiating. Burial will be in Sedalia Cemetery under direction of the Lukens Funeral Home, London.

of the 76-nation Assembly will consider recommendations to U. N. members for collective measures, including "the use of armed force when necessary."

Less drastic steps could include a condemnation of Britain, France and Israel, a cease-fire call, or a request that U. N. members punish the three with diplomatic and economic measures.

* * *

BRITAIN AND France voted against the resolution to convene the Assembly, contending it was illegal. Australia and Belgium abstained. The United States and the Soviet Union were among those casting favorable votes, further emphasizing the grave split in the Western alliance.

Rudecindo Ortega, chief of Chile's delegation who was slated to preside over the special session late this afternoon, said that the assembly's first step will be to give "ample moral support" to the U. S. cease-fire resolution which Britain and France vetoed in the Security Council.

The emergency session is the first ever called under the Assembly's so-called "uniting for peace" resolution of Nov. 3, 1950.

The United States got that resolution adopted in the Korean War days to enable the U. N. to act against aggression despite the Soviet veto in the Security Council.

The council call for the session said "a grave situation has been created by action undertaken against Egypt" and the council had been unable to act because of the British and French vetoes.

The U. S. resolution which they vetoed now will become a proposal for action by the assembly. It calls upon Israel and Egypt (1) to cease fire at once; (2) upon Israel to withdraw its armed forces from Egypt; (3) upon all U. N. members to withhold military, economic and financial aid from Israel until she pulls back, and (4) on all U. N. members to refrain from the threat or use of force in the Middle East.

3 American Scientists Get Nobel Prizes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The 1956 Nobel prize in physics was awarded to three U. S. scientists today for their development of the tiny transistor.

The winners, who did their work in the laboratories of the Bell Telephone Co., are William Shockley of Pasadena, Calif., Jay Bardeen of Urbana, Ill., and Walter H. Brattain of Murray Hill, N. J.

The $38,633 physics award, to be split three ways among the winners, recognized the swift advance of science and technology into the vast new field of physics of the solid states.

It was known that the transistor team had been figuring high among the Nobel physics prize candidates for several years. They had long ago been declared prize-worthy by Nobel experts.

The micro-amplifiers, known as transistors, perform virtually every function of vacuum tubes in electronics and communications but need only a fraction of the current and space of the old vacuum devices. They can be made of various semiconductor solids. Transistors work by directing the flow of electric current through "holes" in the crystals.

A Russian and an Englishman won the 1956 Nobel prize in chemistry jointly for discovering the rules of conduct when molecules blow up in chain reactions or combine smoothly.

Their work laid the foundation for the development of plastics and was a factor in later atomic research.

Sharing the $38,633 award is Sir Cyril Hinshelwood, 59, of Oxford University. He and Semyonov worked independently, but have been friends and correspondents for some 25 years.

He said service was reported normal at Buffalo and Washington, D. C., but that no buses had left Cleveland since 1 a. m.

Company and union representatives, still in session after talking past a midnight strike deadline, indicated there were prospects of a settlement.

The company spokesman said he could not estimate the number idled by the scattered work stoppages. He said there was no picketing but that the idle employes were "hanging around" the terminals.

Main issues to be settled are the union's demand for a 30-cent hourly pay boost spread over two years, six paid holidays, increased minimum guarantees and pay for waiting and delay time.

The population of Argentina is 18,928,536, last figures recorded in 1954. This is double the 1914 population report.

Police, Sheriff Relieved As Halloween Season Ends

But two more reports of vandalism, which had come in the day before, were on the books for investigation.

One of them was a report that two windows had been broken out of the garage at the Charles Fultz home, 330 E. Market St., and the other was that the "No Turn" standard at the North - Temple St. intersection for the protection of school children had disappeared.

* * *

THERE WAS a similar attitude of relief around the sheriff's office in the Courthouse.

Although four cars continued their patrol of the highways and byways through the night, they found things had simmered down considerably and officers had little to do.

Wednesday evening five Washington C. H. youths put back a straw rick they had torn down for Halloween fun. Sheriff Orland Hays, who supervised the restoration project, grinned as he commented that "they didn't seem to think putting it back was near as much fun as tearing it down."

Early Thursday morning members of the WHS Hi-Y club were working like beavers washing the soap off of the windows in the business section. If there was any suspicion that some of them might have had a hand in putting it on, the clean - up job was strictly voluntary. They not only earned the appreciation of those whose windows they cleaned, but also their admiration.

Ike Hints Reply To Adlai's Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, reportedly planning new jabs at Adlai E. Stevenson, returns to the campaign platform tonight in Philadelphia for further discussion of the Middle East.

In a television-radio address to be carried coast to coast at 9:30 p. m., the President may have something to say about a contention by Stevenson, his Democratic opponent, that "the world is on the brink of war again" because, Stevenson said, Eisenhower's "foreign policies in the Middle East hav ebeen disastrous."

Court To Review Garage Fund Case

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday agreed to review lower court decisions allowing use of state highway funds to plan a $4½ million parking garage under the statehouse here.

Olen Grandle of Cincinnati, a parking lot operator, appealed the decisions. He contended that highway improvement funds cannot be used for other purposes such as a parking garage because of a constitutional ban.

Sen. George Fears NATO Doomed

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga) fears the use of military force by Britain and France against Egypt is a "death blow" to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

George, who is President Eisenhower's special representative to NATO, said:

"The Israelis started the present trouble because they were encouraged to do so by both England and France. It may be that Russia's preoccupation with revolt in her satellite nations may have convinced the anti-Communists it was a good time to act."

Cleveland Sees City Newsmen Start Strike

Wages were the main issue. The existing reporter minimum here is $122.50 per week.

Guild units at the Press and at the city's other two dailies, the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Cleveland News, have pared demands to a boost of from $9 to $12.50 in a two-year contract.

Management of the Press offered an increase from $6 to $10.50.

The guild contracts with the News and Plain Dealer also expired at midnight. But the guildsmen at those newspapers have not taken a strike vote.

The guild represents both editorial and commercial employes at the Press. Commercial employes at the News and Plain Dealer are not organized.

Approximately a dozen pickets appeared first at the Press. Within an hour the number had swelled to 25. The guild said there would be mass picketing later today.

Members of the Cleveland Typographical Union (printers) scheduled to start work at 12:15 a. m. refused to cross the picket line and did not report for work.

Rites Wednesday For Millard Walls

Funeral services for Millard P. Walls, 78, retired railroad engineer, were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the late residence near Lucasville with the Rev. C. W. Mr. Walls deid Sunday in Memorial Hospital here.

Pallbearers were F. W. G. P. and R. M. Walls, W. E. Franer, Garrett McKee and James Jacobs.

U. S. Stock Mart Showing Recovery

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered today and by early afternoon had erased more than half of the losses it took on news of the Egyptian crisis Wednesday.

The rebound affected all major divisions of the list. Brokers said President Eisenhower's declaration that the United States would not become involved in Middle East hostilities gave new confidence to investors.

HOW DUMB ARE WE SUPPOSED TO BE?

How dumb are we agricultural voters supposed to be? Our costs are continuing to rise. Our profits are not increasing. The effect of this situation is clearly reflected in the decline of Fayette County Sales Tax Receipts.

Can we contract additional costs by mortgaging ourselves for the greatest amount of money ever suggested to the voters of Fayette County? This money to be borrowed will be at a time when "tight money" has increased interest rates to the highest in more than twenty years. This expense will be more than we have been told.

With limited incomes, shall we indulge ourselves in excessive spending for unproven programs that investigation could prove wasteful and inefficient? Remember — there are only 5,000 children in all of Fayette County. We have some good facilities — let's use everything we have to our best advantage.

We pay the bill — let's spend wisely.

ADEQUATE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Right now our City schools need 27 classrooms. Today, our elementary schools are forced to use emergency classrooms in basements and elsewhere to house small children.

The question is clear in the City Grade School Bond Issue and Operating Levy:

Do we want to provide adequate elementary classrooms for our growing youth?

Do we want to provide the funds for a good system of education? It is as simple as that.

All thinking parents, whether their children are six months old or sixteen years, need to be concerned. Every citizen—every property owner—every businessman, clerk, office worker or shop worker—will benefit from good schools. What is more important than our youth and their education? Every citizen should be glad to vote for the City Elementary School Bond Issue and Operating Levy.

October Proves Dry and Warm

1.40 Inches of Rain Fall during Month

The weather summary for the month of October, prepared by U. S. Weather Observer Coyt A. Stookey, shows that the month was a very dry and unusually warm.

Total rainfall was only 1.40 inches compared with a 2.90 inch normal, and the mean or average temperature was 2.88 degrees above normal.

Normal temperature for October is 55.30 degrees and average for the past month was 58.10 degrees.

While rainfall credited to October was only 1.40, most of a .69-inch rain Wednesday night fell during the last hours of the month, which, if added to October would have increased the total to 2.09 inches.

* * *

PEAK temperature during October was 79 degrees on both the 16th and 17th and the lowest reading during the month was 33 degrees on Oct. 11.

August precipitation was .63 degrees below normal and September was .12 of an inch above normal.

Up to Oct. 1, total precipitation for the year was 34.80 inches, compared with a normal of 32.67 inches, so that total precipitation this year to date, not counting that of Wednesday night, is 2.13 inches above normal.

Although rainfall was scant during October it came at times when it kept the fall pastures alive, and did much toward giving the wheat a good start. Rain Wednesday night was very beneficial to the wheat and pastures.

U. S. Stock Mart Showing Recovery

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered today and by early afternoon had erased more than half of the losses it took on news of the Egyptian crisis Wednesday.

The rebound affected all major divisions of the list. Brokers said President Eisenhower's declaration that the United States would not become involved in Middle East hostilities gave new confidence to investors.

FAYETTE COUNTY

DO YOU WANT THE TRUTH OR WILL YOU PAY THE CONSEQUENCES

HOW DUMB ARE WE SUPPOSED TO BE?

How dumb are we agricultural voters supposed to be? Our costs are continuing to rise. Our profits are not increasing. The effect of this situation is clearly reflected in the decline of Fayette County Sales Tax Receipts.

Can we contract additional costs by mortgaging ourselves for the greatest amount of money ever suggested to the voters of Fayette County? This money to be borrowed will be at a time when "tight money" has increased interest rates to the highest in more than twenty years. This expense will be more than we have been told.

With limited incomes, shall we indulge ourselves in excessive spending for unproven programs that investigation could prove wasteful and inefficient? Remember — there are only 5,000 children in all of Fayette County. We have some good facilities — let's use everything we have to our best advantage.

We pay the bill — let's spend wisely.

Do not confuse this message as having anything to do with the disputed and highly questioned Miami Trace High School Bond Issue. There is no connection between this City Elementary School Program and the County high school bond issue. The City need of grade school classrooms is clear and without controversy.

ADEQUATE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Right now our City schools need 27 classrooms. Today, our elementary schools are forced to use emergency classrooms in basements and elsewhere to house small children.

The question is clear in the City Grade School Bond Issue and Operating Levy:

Do we want to provide adequate elementary classrooms for our growing youth?

Do we want to provide the funds for a good system of education? It is as simple as that.

All thinking parents, whether their children are six months old or sixteen years, need to be concerned. Every citizen—every property owner—every businessman, clerk, office worker or shop worker—will benefit from good schools. What is more important than our youth and their education? Every citizen should be glad to vote for the City Elementary School Bond Issue and Operating Levy.
